SECRET DIVORCE SOUGHT BY WIFE OF J. N. DRUMMOND

Wealthy Tobacco Man's Childhood Romance Shattered by Suit in Los Angeles.

HIS SECOND MARRIAGE

First Wife Obtained Decree in St. Louis—He Then Wedded Miss Meyer.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
CHICAGO, May 5.—Mrs. Evora Drummond, daughter of Willis Andrew Meyer, 638 Groveland park, has filed secretly a bill for divorce in the courts of Los Angeles against John N. Drummond, retired capitalist and member of the millionaire tobacco family of that name in St. Louis. Though extraordinary efforts were made to suppress the filing of the suit, it was learned that the hearing of the case has been set for today.

Mrs. Drummond, in her bill of complaint, names three grounds—desertion, cruelty and infidelity. She asks for an absolute divorce, a money settlement and the sole custody of their 4-year-old daughter, Virginia Harrison Drummond. The suit recalls a romance of childhood attachment which suffered a break. Young Drummond then married another, but this match ended in divorce. Drummond again paid court to Miss Evora Meyer, his boyhood sweetheart, and they were married.

First Wedding Unhappy.
It was 12 years ago when the Drummond and Meyer families were neighbors and old friends in St. Louis. A year later the Meyer family moved to Chicago. Young Drummond later came to this city to visit Miss Meyer, but turned his attentions to Margaret Griffith of Michigan, daughter of a wealthy contractor. After a short courtship they were married.

Drummond took his bride to St. Louis, but the marriage proved to be unhappy and in a little over a year she sued and was granted a divorce. He then wandered West and by a coincidence arrived in California on the same day that Miss Meyer arrived with her parents to spend the winter. The sight of his boyhood sweetheart awoke the old affection and before Miss Meyer returned to Chicago the young couple became engaged.

They were married in Chicago July 13, 1908. Willis Andrew Meyer, father of Mrs. Drummond, is one of the most extensive realty owners in Chicago. He is several times a millionaire. At his Chicago home in Groveland park today he confirmed the report of the separation of his daughter and her husband. Speaking of Mrs. Drummond's suit, he said:

"This is a most distressing matter to our family. We were in hopes of a reconciliation, but I fear now they will not be realized."
"My daughter has a town house in Los Angeles, where she now is, and a country home in San Diego at Lakeside, where we understand her husband is staying. It is too bad, too bad."

SENTENCE OF GOMPERTS UPHOLD BY HIGH COURT

Contempt Judgments Confirmed but Changes Are Made in Terms.
WASHINGTON, May 5.—The contempt of court judgments against Samuel Gomper, Francis Morrison and John Mitchell, officials of the American Federation of Labor, were sustained today by the Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia, which, however, revised the sentences to give Gomper 30 days' imprisonment and fined Mitchell and Morrison $500 each, with no jail term.

The Chief Justice of the court, in dissenting, held that the entire judgment should be reversed. The lower court had sentenced Gomper to one year imprisonment, Mitchell nine months and Morrison six months, without option of fine.

All were convicted of violating a Court injunction in the noted Buck's stove and range case.

An appeal from today's decision will be taken to the Supreme Court of the United States if attorneys for the labor leaders can find ground on which to ask the highest court to review the judgment.

On a previous appeal to the Supreme Court the judgment was dismissed. The contempt proceedings were brought on all over again. In the previous action the decision of the court below, holding the men in contempt, was unanimous.

The dissenting opinion of the Chief Justice today will probably present one avenue of further appeal.

CAGED BEAR ATTACKS MAN

Reaches Through Bars and Tears Arm and Shoulder.
JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., May 5.—Henry Drier, a 39-year-old laborer, was badly injured today by a bear belonging to a carnival company that is giving exhibits here. Drier was leaning over the cage when the bear grabbed him by the arm, and tried to drag him through the bars. His arm and shoulder were badly bitten and torn. The bear also struck him through the bars.

"Take a letter, please," said Mr. W. to his stenographer. "Are you ready?"

"Yes, sir."

"Very well. Take this down: Yours of May 2 received. In reply will say that it will be impossible to fill your order until conditions become more settled in Europe. Emperor William at Wiesbaden has received a telegram that the Skupschina of Cetinje has ordered the evacuation of Scutari by the Montenegrins—Wait a minute. Where are you going?"

"To get another job where the words are not so hard to spell," said the stenographer.

Official forecast for St. Louis and vicinity: Showers and thunderstorms tonight and Tuesday morning; cooler, with brisk and variable winds.

Misour—Unsettled weather, with showers tonight and probably Tuesday; cooler moderate to brisk winds.

Illinois—Showers and cooler tonight, Tuesday cloudy, with cooler in east portion; moderate to brisk winds.

Stage of the river: 15.8 feet; a fall of .5 of a foot.

TRAIN RUNS 10 MILES WITHOUT AN ENGINEER

Fireman Later Notes Absence, Runs Back and Man's Body Is Believed to Be in Creek.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, May 5.—As the Union Pacific's westbound Overland Limited was nearing Church Butte, Wyo., last night, Fireman J. R. Hurley found that Engineer Alfred Nelson was missing from his post.

The train was stopped and then run back over the road for several miles, but no trace of the missing engineer could be found.

It is not known how long the train had been running without an engineer, but it is believed that Nelson was knocked from his seat as the train passed over a bridge, which spans Blacksmith's Fork Creek about 10 miles from Church Butte.

After searching for two hours, the train proceeded to Granger, where another engineer was supplied. A searching party dragged the creek for Nelson's body.

COUNTESS GIZYCKI WEARS LACE CREST ON HOSE

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Countess Gizycki, the chief faddist of Washington society, has a "new one"—nothing more nor less than to wear your family crest in lace on your dainty silk stockings.

This is an expensive fad, as each will have to be made to order by an expert. The Countess, who was Miss Eleanor Patterson of Chicago, had her stockings made in Paris and she sprang the innovation on society at the house show.

She wore a simple gown of white crepe, barred muslin, slightly slashed at the ankles to display a dainty white suede shoe and white silk hose, with the lace crest of fillet lace.

Society women gasped and then rushed off to books on heraldry to get the design to be worked in their stockings.

F. C. WHITEMORE JR. NEAR DEATH FROM BASEBALL INJURY

Nine Physicians Attending Youth Whose Spine Was Hurt Some Time Ago.

BROUGHT BACK FROM YALE

Accident Happened in Boy's Game; Operation Attempted, but Has to Be Stopped.

F. Churchill Whittemore Jr., 17 years old, a son of F. Churchill Whittemore of 88 Vandeventer place, is in a critical condition at St. Luke's Hospital with a disease of the spine. His illness has been traced to a blow with a baseball received in a game several years ago. He became ill two months ago when he was a freshman at Yale College, and was brought back to St. Louis five weeks ago for treatment.

His condition is so serious that members of the family remain constantly at his bedside, and his brother and sister have returned home from colleges in Connecticut.

Nine Physicians Examine Case. Nine physicians have examined him at the hospital. An operation was begun last week after a consultation of the doctors, but it was found that its completion would probably result in the young man's death. A serum will be administered Monday, relatives say, in a last effort to save his life.

The youth entered Yale this year at the beginning of the school term. He complained of pains in his back, and was confined to his room almost a month before his father instructed him to return home for treatment. He was taken to St. Luke's Hospital as soon as he arrived in St. Louis.

The injury is the result of a blow by a baseball received several years ago, according to relatives. No treatment was given at the time, and the young man did not complain until recently. Whittemore's parents say they do not know when and where the blow struck, but it was in a ball game between boys' teams, before Whittemore entered Yale.

Since the boy returned his condition has been so serious that specific inquiry has not been made as to when he was injured.

Miss Edith Whittemore, who is attending a girl's school in Farmington, Conn., and Robert Whittemore, a student at the Ridgely (Conn.) School for Boys, were summoned home last week.

BOOKKEEPER WHO LED YACHT FLEET STILL IS MISSING

Apparent Shortage of $8000 at His Place of Employment
Not Yet Cleared Up.

HE WAS "COMMODORE"

W. S. Ferguson Owned Finest
Powerboat on River and Beat Millionaires Racing.

William S. Ferguson of 3327 Henrietta street, whose account as bookkeeper for the National Druggist are being examined, has not returned to his home or his office. He disappeared a week ago. Mrs. Ferguson told a Post-Dispatch reporter that she could give no information as to his whereabouts.

Ferguson's employer, Henry R. Strong, said that the apparent discrepancy of $8000 in Ferguson's accounts has not been cleared up. It was because of this discrepancy that an attachment on Ferguson's residence and his 45-foot gasoline yacht was filed Saturday.

Known as Parasitism Clerk. Ferguson, though known at his office as a parasitism clerk, was accepted on terms of equality by St. Louis millionaires.

As commodore of the Prairie Yacht Club, he outshone every wealthy motorboat owner in St. Louis when he donned his outfit flannels, his natty white duck shoes and his jaunty cap.

The man who, in his workaday world, wore patched shoes and frayed trousers, underwent a wonderful transformation when he broke from the chrysalis of shabbiness and took on the butterfly brilliance of his other self.

His yacht, the Alamo II, was the wonder and the despair of other ambitious motorboat owners along the river front. Fifty dollars of gasoline were required to fill the tank of this palatial craft. Her engineer, it was a matter of common report, received a salary of $100 a month. Naturally no one who knew Ferguson as "Commodore" suspected that the man who sailed this yacht was a $100-a-month bookkeeper.

Commodore Ferguson was a stickler for precedent and naval observance when he went out at the head of his fleet. In all big river parades his yacht was the flagship. Proudly flying the colors of the club and of its commander, the Alamo II led all the other boats.

Trailing along in its wake would be such splendid craft as Russell E. Gardner's Santa Claus and William S. Thompson's Peggy. In vain these wealthy yacht owners had tried to defeat the Alamo II in regatta races. The man who was a shabby clerk ashore was king of the river. Everybody had to salute the Commodore.

At small river towns along the Mississippi and Illinois rivers it was Ferguson's custom to anchor off shore and land his engineer ashore in a small boat to announce that the Commodore was coming. When the natives had all turned out to do him honor, Ferguson would go ashore, very dignified of bearing, and condescendingly acknowledge the plaudits of the populace.

In the summer season it was his custom to send his yacht ahead to Alton on Saturday evenings. Sunday he would go there on a train and when the scene was properly set he would walk down to the wharf in all his glory, take his place in the cabin of the Alamo II, break out his flag and lead a procession of rich men's yachts in maneuvers along the Alton water front.

DYER DISMISSES COMMERCE BANK ACCOUNTING SUIT

The suit of John T. Herman against R. F. Edwards, former president of the Bank of Commerce; George Lane Edwards and other directors of the bank, was dismissed in the Federal Court by Judge Dyer Monday for want of jurisdiction.

Herman was asking a complete accounting of the transaction whereby the National Bank of Commerce absorbed the Fourth National Bank in 1906. Attorneys for the Bank of Commerce argued that the suit could not be prosecuted in the United States Court because there was no diversity of citizenship between the plaintiff and the defendants, and that the suit ought to have been instituted in the State court.

U. S. APPEAL DISMISSED

Supreme Court Acts in Case Against Atlanta Journal.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—The Government's appeal from the action of the Federal Court in Northern Georgia in annulling the indictment against the Atlanta Journal Co. on charges of conspiracy to violate the anti-trust law relating to newspaper publishing, today was dismissed for want of jurisdiction by the Supreme Court.

The Journal company was charged with conspiring with its officers and employees to mail more sample copies of the Atlanta Semi-Weekly Journal than the company was entitled to do under the second-class rate. The trial court held that the indictment did not state an offense.

Texas Girl Whose Picture Will Be Found On New Money

Plenty on Greenbacks.

THIS is the girl who posed for the figure of "Plenty," which will adorn new greenbacks soon to be issued by the United States Government.

Her name is Ellen Evelyn James and she is a student of sculpture at the Art Students' League in New York. There Kenyon Cox, who designed the picture for the new money, found her and induced her to pose.

"I am so sorry people have found out I posed for the figures, because all my friends will remind me of it to the end of my days, I suppose," said Miss James.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. H. James of San Antonio.

Industries affected by whether some business men are just bluffing. In other words, we don't feel disposed to accept, at par, statements of the interests themselves as to the effects of the tariff bill, but will make a thorough investigation through the Bureau of Domestic and Foreign Commerce. This function has not been used before, but I see no reason why such information should not be gathered for the benefit of Congress and the Government."

The Secretary indicated that his department would observe business in general after the tariff bill had gone into effect and if changes in the tariff seemed necessary the data collected would be a basis for discussion in Congress at later sessions.

President Wilson has said he would make an effort to learn the cause of any reduction of pay after passage of the bill, and to callers today he indicated a general approval of Redfield's ideas. The Secretary of Commerce and the President had a conference at which Redfield talked over the powers of the department.

Redfield declared at the White House that probably the first inquiry would be into the pottery industry, for which, he said, representations had been made that a reduction in wages would follow changes in duties.

"We want to see," said Secretary Redfield, "whether any changes in business, particularly those that affect wages, are directly necessary in the department."

WOMAN SUFFRAGE MAKES PARASITES, SAYS ARCHBISHOP

Mother's Queenly Title Is Lost,
He Says, Whenever She Quits
the Home.

CENSURES MODERN DANCES

They Are Orgies, He Asserts,
Which Lead to Death and Not to Matrimony.

Archbishop Glennon, in a sermon at the New Cathedral Chapel, Sunday, denounced woman suffrage agitators as nuisances and parasites and compared modern dances to those indulged in by the ancient pagans in the Bacchanalian orgies.

"Fond parents," he said, "think these orgies and these suggestive dances will lead to matrimony. They do not. They lead to death."

The Archbishop, while not specifically mentioning cabaret shows or society dances, said that recent happenings in St. Louis, had shown a tendency to revert to pagan ideals and to forget the sacredness of womanhood and feminine modesty.

"May Devotions" Is Theme. The sermon's theme was "May Devotions." In Catholic churches throughout the month of May there are special services in honor of the Virgin Mary. Too many of the faithful, the Archbishop said, are losing sight of the qualities which cause the memory of Mary to be revered.

"In these modern days," he said, "mothers lead their daughters to the tents of Bacchus instead of to the shrine of Mary. They permit their children to attend dances presided over by Venus, the goddess of impure love."

"The true mother," said the Archbishop, "with reverence to suffragettes, 'should be queen in the home, and a queen she will be as long as she remains there. When she leaves her home to become more independent she invariably loses her queenly title and becomes instead a mere nuisance or troublesome parasite."

Reverting to the modern tendencies, the Archbishop said:

"Virtue is a very delicate flower from which, especially in the case of young women, it is easy to brush the bloom away. It is possible the flower will bloom, and its beauty remain. It is possible and easiest when Mary is the model imitated, and, as with her, Christ's sacred commands are fulfilled."

"It is very doubtful if women today are before and after the election serious disorders occurred, in which there was much rifle firing. Trouble began at the funeral of Gen. Augustus at the cathedral. Several fusillades were fired in the town, and a panic ensued in the church. Many women and children were wounded and injured in the rush from the cathedral. Troops temporarily restored order. Firing ceased, and the funeral ceremony continued."

WASHINGTON, May 5.—To be on hand for any possible contingencies in connection with the accession of a new President of Haiti, the gunboat Nashville, one of the naval watchdogs of the West Indies, sailed from San Domingo City for Port au Prince. The gunboat was ordered to the Haitian capital upon the announcement of the death of President Auguste.

BISHOP JANSSEN IS AT THE POINT OF DEATH

Belleville Churchman Has Re-lapse of Heart Disease Stroke Suffered at Silver Jubilee.

Bishop John Janssen of Belleville, 83 years old, is at the point of death Monday from a relapse of a stroke of heart disease two weeks ago. His physicians said there was little hope that he would recover.

While celebrating the twenty-fifth anniversary of his ordination as a Bishop April 25, Bishop Janssen was first stricken. He rallied, but again was stricken Sunday. He called in his chancellor Monday, the Rev. Father Schrammer, and asked him to take care of some pressing business matters.

The Bishop, who is conscious, said that he did not expect to be able again to look after his business affairs. Archbishops Quigley of Chicago and Glennon of St. Louis have visited him since his first illness.

COL. BUTLER QUILTS SMOKE WAR; KIEL IS URGED TO ACT

Committee Visits Mayor and Asks That Vacancies in Department Be Filled.

Members of a Smoke Abatement Com-day informed him that the private prosecutions of smoke law violators financed for more than two years by

Col. James Gay Butler, had been dropped, and that the future fight on smoke must be made by city officials, unassisted by private funds.

They urged the Mayor to fill vacancies now existing, the chief deputy smoke inspector and eight positions as assistant, with men thoroughly competent for this work.

The committee consisted of Mrs. E. H. Kroeber, representing the Women's Organization for Smoke Abatement; H. L. Parker of the Manufacturing Committee of the Business Men's League; K. Duncan Miller of the Smoke Abatement Committee of the Civic League and Roger Baldwin, secretary of the league.

They called the Mayor's attention to the ordinance passed April 23, creating the offices of Deputy Smoke Inspector and assistants, and said that since the passage of the law the "privately financed prosecutions had ceased. They asked that in filling the vacancies a definite standard of ability and experience be fixed.

They also urged that an analysis of the sources of smoke be made, to determine whether residences, apartments or railroads are chiefly responsible, and that soot gauges be put in different places, to determine whether the air is growing clearer.

JAPAN TO HOLD UP PROTEST UNTIL BRYAN RETURNS

President Wilson Also Delays Action on California's Alien Land Bill.

COPY OF LAW RECEIVED

Measure Which Awaits Governor's Signature Is Telegraphed to Chief Executive.

By Associated Press. WASHINGTON, May 5.—President Wilson today received by telegraph a copy of the alien land bill which was passed by the California Legislature and is now awaiting Gov. Johnson's signature.

The President let it be known that the Federal administration would take no further step until Secretary Bryan returns Thursday with first-hand information.

Mr. Wilson told callers that he had not yet received the formal protest of Japan and intimated that before May 13, the last day for Gov. Johnson to sign the bill, some explanation might be expected as to whether it would be in contravention of the treaty with Japan.

In the absence of instructions to the contrary, Ambassador Chinda will not present Japan's formal protest until after Secretary Bryan returns.

Meantime, the embassy will have opportunity to acquaint the Tokio Foreign Office of the exact terms of the bill and of the conditions in California and in Washington.

Experts Study Bill.
Meanwhile the Government's legal experts are studying the bill and its effect in an effort to discover what may be a point of attack.

Many officials here believe the lawyers of the California Legislature have succeeded in framing a bill that may successfully resist attack upon the ground that it violates any provision of the treaty of 1911 between the United States and Japan. In that case Japan would need to rely upon general provisions of international law to obtain relief.

Warship Order Explained.
In apprehension that an effort might be made to connect with the present California situation the recent placing of orders for three dreadnoughts, the Japanese embassy officials today declared these vessels were appropriated for by the last Diet before the land legislation began in California, and that placing orders at this time was simply in execution of plans to cover a period of years in naval development.

The joint board, which is composed of the highest technical officers of the army and navy, and is headed by Admiral Dewey, was in session today. Although it was a special meeting, it was stated that it had been in contemplation for some time, and was to have been called as soon as Major-General Wood returned from his Texas trip.

Jap Bill Not to Be Signed Till Bryan Sees President.
SACRAMENTO, Cal., May 5.—Two California alien land holding act, which passed both houses of the Legislature within 30 hours, after bringing about one of the most unusual situations in the history of the nation, will lie on Gov. Johnson's desk without his signature until Secretary of State Bryan can confer with President Wilson, in Washington.

This will mean a delay of nearly a week, as Secretary Bryan left here Saturday and will not reach the national capital until Wednesday night or Thursday morning.

Gov. Johnson will wait, as he says, "a reasonable time" whatever protests the Government may make, after which he will sign the bill.

He is required by law to sign or veto all acts passed up to him by the Legislature within 10 days of final passage, provided the enacting body remains in session for that length of time, otherwise he has 30 days.

It appears now that the Legislature will not adjourn until May or later, which would require the Governor to act on or before Tuesday, May 13.

TRIES TO ASSASSINATE GRAND DUKE OF BADEN
Anarchist's Hold on Carriage Insecure and Duke Knocks Him to Street.

MANNHEIM, Germany, May 5.—A laboring man, who afterward boasted that he was an anarchist, attempted to assassinate the Grand Duke of Baden outside the Mannheim railway station Sunday afternoon.

The Grand Duke, who is 55, was driving across the station square when the man suddenly leaped on the step of the carriage and brandished a dagger. Owing to the speed of the carriage the man was thrown off and fell. He was then seized by the Duke's attendants and taken to the station hospital.

It is thought the attempt probably had some connection with the anarchist band which was recently reported to have planned an attack on Emperor William.

Mrs. Elmer Black, Expert on Living Cost, Visits Our Markets

She Explains to Marguerite Martyn Her Plan to Save 45 Per Cent

Peace Congress Delegate, Whose Gown Was Complimented by Queen Mary, Has Toured World's Big Cities in Interest of Project for Municipal Terminal Markets—Praises the Union, Finds the Biddle in Bad Condition—Discovers Ideal Site for St. Louis Municipal Market.

By Marguerite Martyn.

DECIDEDLY the most ornamental figure at the Peace Conference was Mrs. Elmer Black. Fortune-favored and still more highly favored by nature, Mrs. Black's personality, her grace, her gowns, her charm, easily assert themselves in any gathering, however notable.

She has graced some notable ones, too, being active in civic, national and international movements.

It is supposed, though, that one has said enough of her personal attractions when one has told the story of how Queen Mary, at her first drawing-room, singled out Mrs. Black as the most impressive woman there. The Queen, as is well known, is never so superior to anything as to clothes. She discourages an interest in her court, and she frowns openly upon the extravagance of American women.

But when Mrs. Black appeared before her in a gown of turquoise blue with tulle and heavily embroidered in seed pearls, gold bullion and studs, with numerous turquoises and rose diamonds, Queen Mary succumbed.

Queen Compliments Her.
She asked to have Mrs. Black brought to her again, talked with her kindly about her work for peace, then complimented her on her gown, and further, divulging that royal women are not unlike their sisters of commoner clay, the Queen asked where another such gown might be obtained. Needless to say, when this story gained circulation, it spread like a conflagration, and Mrs. Black became one of the most feted visitors of the London season.

And now, what do you suppose this flower of fashion, this favorite of fortune, was doing at 6 o'clock Saturday morning of this last most august week? Sleeping in her luxurious apartments at the Jefferson? Making up the hours of beauty sleep lost in the gaiety and entertainment with which she was surfeited while here? Guess again.

Up and to Market.
She was up and going to market. Moreover, she was not going to market just on her own account, for Mrs. Black makes her home always at fashionable hotels. She was going on behalf of women not so highly favored as herself, women who, indeed, have difficulty in making both ends meet.

She was investigating the market situation in St. Louis for the purpose of gathering data to aid in her own pet solution of the high-cost-of-living problem.

Mrs. Black not only has gone to market in St. Louis but in almost every other large city in America. And not only has she investigated the market situation in America but in every large city of Europe as well.

Oh, she never does things by halves. It is so she explains the perfection of her clothes.

Appreciates Compliment.
She decided my reminder of the Queen Mary incident, saying that, although she appreciated a compliment to her gown as any woman would, she had had occasion to feel irritated by such attention.

"I am as thorough and systematic about shopping as about more important pursuits," said Mrs. Black to me. "Before going to London as a delegate to the International Peace Congress I went to Paris and bought tailoring fitting my high mission. I thought to take advantage of social opportunities to advance the cause of Peace."

But instead of accepting my tracts and listening to my advice to join the league, the Queen having set an example, every woman I met would have something to say.

All the languages peculiar to that neighborhood, going at full speed, exceeded the speed limit when Mrs. Black in her Parisian clothes and New York air drove up in a cab. She soon was fast friends with the French and the signora, as well as the kinder and bambrino. One black-eyed Gretchen was particularly tickled when Mrs. Black grasped a squawking rooster by its yellow legs in her white-gloved hands, but failed to guess its weight within half a pound.

There are two large buildings at Souard, both unoccupied and falling into decay. Charles Boettger, the market master, surveying the bright colors, noisy crowds, was nevertheless pessimistic.

Boon to the People.
"This market is a boon to people in this neighborhood," said he, "but they are poor people and there are not enough of them to support a good sized market. The opportunity to buy direct from the producer ought to appeal to housewives from other sections. But most of 'em would rather telephone an order to the shop around the corner, paying two or three prices, and then complain about the high cost of living."

"This market doesn't mean pay expenses and we can't even give away the space in these market houses as inducement to dealers to open shops here."

At Union Market, where certainly on Saturday morning it would seem that a universal horn of plenty had disgorged itself, we listened to the same woeeful tale.

W. H. Judy, the market master, employed by the city, said, "the market doesn't pay. The city loses money on it."

comes through, "said he, "but it's the customers' lookout if they buy rotten stuff."

It was in the commission house district where Mrs. Black's expert advice was forthcoming. And it was here she found the most fault with our market conditions.

Fresh vegetables were piled helter skelter on unwashed floors. Evidently the women who are responsible for the feeding of mankind are not expected to penetrate this mysterious man-managed source of their table supplies.

We had to climb over obstructions on the sidewalks. It would be a hardened individual with whom Mrs. Black could not ingratiate herself, and more than one merchant dropped his work to show her about.

We saw the numerous freight depots in Third street, learned that 40 to 125 cars per day are unloaded there, supplying 155 commission merchants.

"Here," said Mrs. Black, "you have the ideal condition for municipal terminal markets. You already have the railroad terminals."

"The city could build a building and with fair administration, rigid inspection, sound safeguards, insure a municipal market a benefit to producer and consumer alike. Meanwhile, a comfortable profit to the city treasury might accrue. Boston has a profit of $20,000, Baltimore $50,000, New Orleans $75,000, and all cities where the institution is properly administered profit from their markets."

"Your market, if patterned after Munich's model, would have railroad terminals delivering their freight straight to the dealer, vast cold storage cellars and refrigerating plants underground, scales, lifts, ventilation, electric light and running water everywhere; restaurants and baths for the workers."

"Wholesale dealers here, backed by the city official on duty, could assure shippers of every safeguard, could insure the retailer of the most simplified method of delivery and I am convinced save to the consumer 45 cents on the dollar if in Missouri, as in New York; that is the general cost of transmission."

37-YEAR SUIT DISMISSED
WASHINGTON, May 5.—After being in the courts 37 years, the suit of Thomas A. Edison and others against the Atlantic and Pacific Telegraph Co. and the heirs of Jay Gould, for alleged infringement of patents relating to quadruplex telegraphy, was ended today. The Supreme Court dismissed the Edison appeal.

The lower court held that it was without jurisdiction to consider the case and the Supreme Court sustained that view.

What the Internal Bath Is Doing for Humanity
Under our present mode of living the large intestine (or colon) cannot get rid of the waste that it accumulates as it does up, and then biliousness, constipation is the result, and that lack of desire to do, to work, to think.

This waste in the colon, as we all know, is extremely poisonous, and if neglected, the blood takes up the poisons, bringing on countless very serious diseases—appendicitis is directly caused by waste in the colon.

If the colon is kept clean and pure you will always feel bright and capable of doing your best—always up to "concert-pitch."

There is just one internal bath which will keep the colon as sweet and clean as nature demands it to be for perfect health—that is, the "J. B. C. Cascade."

Many thousands are using it, and are all praising it with great enthusiasm, and explained by Judge & Deighlin Co., 418 Olive, Seventh and Locust, Broadway and Washington, St. Louis, Mo. Ask for booklet "Why man of today is Only a Per Cent Efficient."—ADV.

DENIES GAYNOR WARRANT

New York Judge Rejects Application of Ralph Pulitzer.

NEW YORK, May 5.—A decision was handed down by Magistrate Kernochan today, denying the application made by counsel for Ralph Pulitzer for a warrant for the arrest of Mayor Gaynor on a charge of criminal libel.

The alleged libel was committed by the Mayor in a speech in Brooklyn in Feb. 14, last, and was against the late Joseph Pulitzer.

HUSBAND IS SLAIN
BY AN ADMIRER OF
HIS SECRET BRIDE

Attacks Art Student, After Her Alleged Confession and Two Bullets Pierce Heart.

By Associated Press.
CHICAGO, May 5.—Not until this afternoon did 17-year-old Irene Westfall La Count, whose husband, Harry Leon La Count, was killed last night by Joseph A. Williams, an admirer of the young woman, learn that she was a widow.

She was in a cheerful frame of mind when she left the Hyde Park Police Station, and was taken to the Woodlawn Station, supposing that her husband, and Williams had engaged in nothing more serious than a fist fight.

Police Capt. Alcock left her under this illusion for some time while he questioned her as to her relations with Williams, and about her brief career as a wife.

News Broken to Her.
Suddenly the Captain broke the news, and the girl fainted. A dash of cold water restored consciousness and tears came to her eyes.

"Why didn't you tell me? Why didn't you let me see him?" she exclaimed, and then became more composed.

She was accompanied by her mother. Facing her was Williams, but they did not speak to each other.

In the course of the questioning, Alcock asked Mrs. La Count whether she liked Williams or her husband the better and she expressed a preference for the latter. Being under age, however, she admitted that she had thought of seeking an annulment of the marriage, because she was of one religious belief and her husband of another.

La Count and Irene Westfall eloped to Joliet, Ill., four months ago and were married. The bride returned to the home of her parents, withholding news of the wedding from them. La Count returned to his duties as an inspector at the Panama Canal. A few weeks ago Williams, an art student, met Mrs. La Count at a dance at an amusement park, and they became friends.

Said to Have Confessed.
Recently La Count was invalidated home, and his conscience-stricken wife is said to have admitted her relations with Williams.

According to Williams, La Count and Mrs. La Count's brother followed Williams home last night, and La Count struck Williams. At this, the art student drew a pistol recently purchased, and fired twice. Both bullets entered La Count's heart.

Wife of Bridegroom's Slayer Is to Stand By Him.
KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 5.—"I think Joe must have been justified in shooting, and I will stick to him through thick and thin," said Mrs. Joseph A. Williams, wife of the art student who shot and killed Harry La Count in Chicago. Mrs. Williams will depart tonight for Chicago to join her husband. Williams' mother, Mrs. Marcus T. C. Williams, will accompany her.

Mrs. Williams denied she and her husband had quarreled. She said she had received letters daily from him. Mrs. Williams said her husband had frequently written to her of attending public dances in Chicago. It was at a public dance that Williams is said to have met Mrs. La Count.

VOTE RECOUNT ORDERED IN ELECTION CONTESTS

Circuit Judges Direct Reopening of All Ballot Boxes Used in Recent Voting.

Orders for the opening of the ballot boxes for the last election were made Monday by Judges in the Circuit Court in the contests filed Saturday by Democrats for city offices. Attorneys for both sides agreed, following the recent decision of Judge Rasmussen that the ballots should be counted in the House of Delegates contest filed by John H. Becker.

The contests in which the orders were made were those of Dr. John H. Simon against Henry Kiel for Mayor; Ben C. Adkins against Martin Witter, City Registrar; John C. Owens against Charles Mohrstadt, City Marshal, and Walter Kelley and Thomas O'Rourke for the City Council.

Former Speaker John H. Sommerich of the House of Delegates filed a suit Monday contesting the election of Thomas M. Byrne from the Eighteenth Ward. John H. Lahlv filed a contest against Herman J. Melsner as a member of the House from the Sixth Ward. The Circuit Judges will be asked to include these contestants in the count of the ballots when the boxes are opened.

BROMO-LITHIA CO., Philadelphia, Pa.

ONCE PROSPEROUS MAN CHARGED WITH ATTEMPT TO ROB

Harry B. Graham, Son of 'Change Member, Held in City Dispensary Ward.

Harry B. Graham, college graduate and son of George L. Graham, a prominent member of the Merchants' Exchange, is a prisoner in the city dispensary inebriate ward, charged by the police with having waylaid and attempted to rob Edward W. Swinhart, a painter, of 1102 North Park place, at 2 a. m. Monday.

Graham attempted to conceal his identity by saying he was Harry Murphy of 1600 North Broadway. A memorandum book found near Broadway and Penrose street, after he had battled with Patrolman Charles Smith, gave the clue to his real name. Later he was identified by persons who had known him on 'Change in his more prosperous days.

Three men in a fight. Patrolman Smith found three men fighting in an alley near Broadway and Penrose street. One of the men, afterwards found to be Swinhart, was down, and the others, according to Smith's report, were kicking him.

When Smith entered the alley one of the men ran and escaped. Graham and the policeman fought. In the struggle the policeman's club and cap were taken from him, and his uniform was torn.

Graham ran north on Broadway. Patrolman Smith followed him two blocks and captured him. Swinhart, who had made no attempt to escape, went to the station with Smith and his prisoner. He had been drinking, but said he would swear to a warrant charging Graham with having waylaid him, and with trying to rob him.

Injured on the Head. At the station Graham, after giving his name as Harry Murphy, refused to make a further statement. Sergt. Donegan and two patrolmen were sent out to find Smith's club and cap. Near the mouth of the alley where the fight occurred they picked up a memorandum book in which was written:

"My name is Harry B. Graham. If anything happens to me notify G. L. Graham, 600 Chamber of Commerce." In the inebriate ward Monday morning Graham's head was found to be injured. A wound on his scalp was dressed by dispensary physicians. He said Patrolman Smith had struck him with his club, but Smith denied this.

"It was just a three-cornered fight," said Graham. "I didn't try to rob anybody. I think that fellow that got away was trying to rob me. I can't remember just what happened. That policeman came running into the alley with his revolver drawn and I had to fight to keep from getting killed."

DRIVES HIS GOLF BALL THROUGH CAR; HOLE LOST

Trolley Coaches Now Added to the List of Hazards on Course at Baltimore.

BALTIMORE, May 5.—In a golf match between E. M. Talcott, Washington, and H. D. Smith, Glen Ridge, N. J., Talcott drove his ball through a passing trolley car. A double-tracked trolley line runs through the links.

The window of the car was on the near side; on the far side the sphere crashed through the glass and dropped on the track beyond. The ball came within a foot of the faces of two passengers, but no one was hurt.

The ball had an unpleasant lie, so Talcott demanded that he be allowed to drop back, counting the trolley as it had been a rub of the green. Smith, however, dissented, and finally persuaded Talcott that he was fortunate as it was, arguing that if the ball had remained in the car, Talcott might have had to ride five miles into town and guard the ball's position until the car returned on the way back and stopped long enough for him to play out, at a cost of two fares, to say nothing of mental anguish. Talcott lost the hole. Street cars have been added to the list of casual hazards on the course.

ATHLETIC LIFE FATAL TO P. A. SORG, MILLIONAIRE

Heart Disease Kills Horseman Who Won Fame On Two Continents.

NEW YORK, May 5.—Paul Arthur Sorg, a young multimillionaire famed on two continents as an expert whip, whose horses under his own handling have won him many trophies in America and England, died Sunday in his apartment at 10-14 East Eighty-seventh street. Death was caused by heart disease, due largely to the overactive athletic life he had always lived.

Although his fortune was largely invested in the tobacco business, Sorg chose not to figure in the world of commercial affairs.

Aside from his wide international activities as an amateur horseman, Sorg was seldom in the public eye. When his father, Paul J. Sorg, died, Paul Arthur Sorg was one of three heirs to an estate said to be worth $30,000,000, all made in the manufacture of tobacco. It is believed the younger Sorg's estate is much greater than his inherited wealth.

ULCERATED TOOTH FATAL

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Physicians are puzzled by the strange death of Edward Beverly Slater, a lawyer of Maryland and Virginia, who died here of an infection of the brain due to an ulcerated tooth. His body will be taken to Warrenton, Va., for burial today.

Slater, who was 50 years old, entered a local hospital three months ago. Despite all that could be done by doctors and dentists the infection spread from the jaw to the brain.

LYLE'S $2,000,000 ESTATE GOES TO 2 SISTERS IN IRELAND

Ranken Heir's Will, Filed in Clayton, Left Property to Wife if She Survived Him.

The will of the late Hugh Ranken Lyle, assistant secretary of the Mississippi Valley Trust Co., filed late Saturday at Clayton, leaves the bulk of his estate in trust for two sisters in Ireland. After their death the estate is to be divided and goes in equal parts to the descendants of the sisters.

The estate is valued at about $2,000,000, according to the estimate of Public Administrator E. G. Schall of St. Louis County. Nearly all of Lyle's property was left to his wife, Jessie A. Lyle, provided she survived him, by the terms of the will. She died after the will was made, and by the terms of the instrument the bequest to her was revoked at her death.

Lyle died April 29 at the Jewish Hospital, three days after he had fallen down a stairway at the home of Mrs. A. J. Mortality, 7 Beverly place, while he was attending a reception. He was an heir to the estate of David P. Ranken, a cousin, which is valued at more than $1,000,000, and to the estate of David Ranken, who died Jan. 26, 1912, leaving no will, but whose estate is estimated at $300,000.

The Mississippi Valley Trust Co. is named executor of the will, which was made May 6, 1909. Ten clauses in the instrument direct the concern how to administer the estate, invest the income, and how to apportion the property and income to the heirs.

Three children are bequeathed $100 each. They are Albert A. Ramsey of Carthage, Mo., Robert W. Ramsey of Atchison, Kan., and Elizabeth L. Longston of Independence, Kan.

The sisters who inherit his fortune are Mrs. Margaret C. Lyle of Belfast, Ireland, and Mrs. Jane P. Hanna of Newtownards, County Down, Ireland, who became heirs to the part of the property which would have gone to Mrs. Lyle.

Three hours after Lyle's death in the hospital, Public Administrator Schall filed as administrator of the estate in the Probate Court at Clayton, not knowing that a will had been left. The filing of the will revokes Schall's administration of the property.

Lyle was one of the administrators of the estate of David Ranken, who lived at Twelfth street and Washington avenue. He was injured in a fight before he was to have departed for Montana, with his attorney, Jesse A. McDonald, to inspect valuable properties belonging to the Ranken estate. His wife died about three years ago.

DAYLIGHT BURGLARS ROB FERGUSON STORE

Thieves Climb Over Transom, but Fail to Find Any Money.

Daylight burglars robbed the grocery store and meat market of L. W. Kraeger in Ferguson Sunday. The store was closed from 11 a. m. until 2 p. m., and during that time the burglars climbed in through a transom over the back door.

They took cigars, fruit and other articles, but did not find $2, which was in a box under one of the counters. Dr. George Flinn, who has an office next door to the store, said that when he closed his office at 1 p. m. he saw some young men in the rear of the store. It is believed that they were awaiting an opportunity to get into the store, and that soon after the doctor closed his office they pried open the transom.

Several stores have been robbed in Ferguson during the past few weeks.

JAPAN CONTRACTS FOR 3 MORE BATTLESHIPS

The Fusu, to be Launched This Year, Is Fourth of New Squadron and of 27 Knots.

TOKIO, Japan, May 5.—The Navy Department has contracted for three battleships of 30,500 tons each, to be built in Japan. They will be sister ships to the Fusu, now building in the naval dockyards at Kure.

The new Japanese battleships will complete a homogeneous squadron of four. They will be, it is understood, enlarged and improved editions of the Hiyel class, which goes into commission next fall. The Hiyel class ships carry eight 13.5-inch guns, but the new ships, it is believed, will carry 10 of the same caliber.

The Fusu is designed, according to report, for a speed of 27 knots. This would make her faster than any ship of the American navy except a few torpedo boat destroyers. She will be launched late this year.

Duchess of Connaught Grows Wiser. LONDON, May 5.—The condition of the Duchess of Connaught, wife of the Governor-General of Canada, is far from satisfactory. Since the second operation for abdominal trouble there has been little improvement. She shows restlessness and is reported to be slightly worse.

Two Women and Man Drown. CINCINNATI, May 5.—Two women and a man were drowned in the Ohio River here today and the fourth occupant of a skiff had a narrow escape from drowning. The party had attempted to get out of the way of a passing excursion steamer, but waves from the boat upset their skiff.

SUFFERED AWFUL PAINS

For Sixteen Years.—Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"I was troubled with pains for sixteen years, and was thin, weak and nervous. When I would lie down it would seem as if I was going right down out of sight into some dark hole, and the window curtains had faces that would peek out at me, and when I was out of doors it would seem as if something was going to happen. My blood was poor, my circulation was so bad I would be like a dead person at times. I was troubled badly with female complaints and my abdomen was sore. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it certainly did wonders for me. My troubles disappeared and I am able to work hard every day."—MRS. W. F. SAWYER, River View Farm, Moretown, Vermont.

Another Case. Gifford, Iowa.—"I was troubled with female ailments. I had very severe and steady headache, also pain in back and was very thin and tired all the time. I commenced taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I am cured of these troubles. I cannot praise your medicine too highly."—MRS. INA MILL-SLADLE, Gifford, Iowa.

The World's Largest Builders of Six-Cylinder Automobiles

New HUDSON "Six"

A Definition of Automobile Service

This is a much talked about subject. Every dealer, every manufacturer, talks about it. Some are specific, some only suggest what it might be. This is our definition. See if you do not agree that it is the most important in the consideration of your motor car purchase.

No man, no matter how experienced, can know what service any car will render. No two drivers operate their car alike. No two cars are called upon to render the same kind of service.

Machinery will wear out. It must be attended to, and some one expert, willing and broad in mind, must be there to see that the car gives the service you expect it to give.

A car must be built with a sufficient allowance to take care of the average demand made upon it.

No dealer can give service who is not successful. Motor car satisfaction is largely a matter of dealer satisfaction. To be able to give such service the dealer must make a profit. He cannot sell his cars at a discount. He cannot make unreasonable allowances for old automobiles in order to make a sale and have a profit left sufficient to give the service that should go with every motor car.

He must see the broader possibilities of conducting his business upon a service basis than is often found, especially among dealers whose only interest is in making the sale.

Buy a Six if Paying More Than $2,000

The "54" HUDSON is all that any automobile at any price can be in performance, luxury, comfort and value. Backed by our own service you will find in it as near an approach to ideal motor satisfaction as is known.

The "54" HUDSON is the answer to a question that has long concerned all automobile builders. "What will Howard E. Coffin do when he builds a Six?"

When he built this car he had as his associates experts from 97 leading American and European factories—48 all told.

Thus all guess work was eliminated—all experiment made unnecessary. With so many viewpoints and so much experience, errors that others had made were eliminated—advancements that others found impossible were easily accomplished.

The "54" HUDSON has electric lights. It is electrically self-cranks. The famous Delco system, patented, is used. Every luxury is included, speedometer, clock, top, curtains, rain-vision windshield, demountable rims, twelve-inch upholstery, etc. Equipped with a live-passenger, cushion body at $2485.

At $1900 you can obtain the HUDSON "37"—designed by the same engineers that built the "54"—and pointed to as the "Four-cylinder masterpiece."

PEACE SOCIETY'S EXPULSION DOESN'T WORRY DR. ABBOTT

Outlook Editor Says He'll Save a Little Money Now by Not Paying the Dues.

NEW YORK, May 5.—Dr. Lyman Abbott, editor of the Outlook, of which Theodore Roosevelt is contributing editor, said this morning that he was not worrying over his expulsion from the American Peace Society at one of its sessions in St. Louis Saturday.

When friends called his attention to the published reports of his expulsion, which he had not read, he remarked, nonchalantly:

"Well, I can save a little money in that direction now, as I won't have to pay any more dues to the society."

When told that the society had expelled him because of certain articles that have appeared in the Outlook, Dr. Abbott said he did not know just which articles were specified. In reply to a question he said he had no knowledge as to whether any of Col. Roosevelt's articles were among those to which objection had been made.

"The trouble is," he said, "that they objected to my belonging to the Army and Navy League and the Peace Society at the same time. I don't believe in obtaining peace by maintaining so weak a navy that we would not dare to make war. On the contrary, I believe in keeping always a strong navy."

"Charles E. Beals, who attended to my expulsion, attempted similar action several years ago, but could not get the votes to support him. If they don't like the tone of the Outlook articles I don't know what they are going to do. I don't propose to change my own opinions or the policy of the Outlook to remain a member of the Peace Society. Any way, I'm not worrying a bit. I'm just going to let the matter drop."

MRS. AND MRS. THOMAS T. RICHARDS of 7 Parkland place will give a dinner Monday evening in honor of Mrs. Richard's sister, Miss Helen Dodd, whose marriage Tuesday evening to the Rev. Frank B. Cleland will be one of the notable nuptial events of the week.

The bridegroom's father, the Rev. Dr. Cleland of Indianapolis, will come over to officiate at the wedding, which will be a very quiet affair with just the immediate family present, and will take place at the residence of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Sanford G. Scarritt, 4322 Washington boulevard.

The bride is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Mark Dodd, and a niece of the late Samuel M. Dodd.

The bride's brother, Mark Dodd, will give her in marriage, and her only attendants will be three little nieces, Miss Eleanor Richards and Misses Harriet and Helen Spencer, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Horatio N. Spencer Jr.

Miss Florence Dodd, another sister, whose engagement to the Rev. Charles E. Edwards, also of the St. Louis Presbytery, will not be present at the wedding, as she is visiting her sister, Mrs. Urban C. Brewer, in Larchmont, N. Y., who is ill.

Mrs. Samuel Grant Davis will give a garden tea Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock, at her country home, Lilac Roost, on the Clayton and North and South roads.

Miss Corinne Harris will depart Tuesday for Houston, Tex., to attend her marriage to John Dennis Markey of that city will take place Thursday evening at St. Patrick's Church, the Rev. Father Houghton officiating.

Mr. Markey is a former St. Louisan, who went to Houston several years ago to live.

Miss Harris makes her home with her brother, Thomas Russell Harris, and Mrs. Harris of 17 Yale avenue, University Heights.

After their wedding tour, Mr. Markey and his bride will live in Houston.

The marriage of Miss Edith S. Gibson, daughter of Mrs. Ida V. Gibson of 5730 Bartmer avenue, and Osmer N. Edgar will take place Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's uncle, Charles B. Fisher, 3539 Bartmer avenue.

The Rev. Charles F. Blaisdell will perform the ceremony.

Miss Anna Mills will be maid of honor and Frederick T. Kennedy best man. Little Helen Dielm, the bride's cousin, will be flower girl.

Following the ceremony, there will be a reception from 8:30 to 10:30 o'clock. The decorations of the house and the color scheme for the wedding will be pink and white.

Mr. Edgar and his bride will go North to spend their honeymoon and will make their home in St. Louis.

Miss Estelle Mason of 3300 Olive street was married at 8 o'clock Saturday evening to Clarence M. Inakeep of 1230 Kraft avenue, at the home of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Inakeep departed for the West, and will be at home after May 15 at 1230 Kraft avenue.

Mrs. J. Stein of Chicago is visiting her sister, Mrs. Herman Kahn, of 1909 La Salle street, and will be at home informally Thursday afternoon.

NEGRO THIEF TIES GIRL WHO SNAPS A REVOLVER AT HIM

Miss Grace Unterbrink of Alton Tells Parents Burglar in Struggle Kissed Her.

Attacked in her home in Alton, Sunday night, by a negro burglar, according to her father's version of the affair, Miss Grace Unterbrink, 19 years old, seized her father's revolver and tried to shoot the intruder.

The revolver missed fire. The burglar then overpowered Miss Unterbrink, choked her and tied her hands behind her back with a corset string, and threw bed clothes over her while he proceeded to ransack the house. He kissed her while they were struggling,
she told her parents.

Henry Unterbrink and his wife, parents of the girl, were attending a house party at the home of a friend.
When they left, Miss Unterbrink was entertaining her fiancé, Hubert Yaeger, according to a statement by the father,
Monday.

Snaps Revolver in His Face.
"Yaeger left at 11 p. m.," Unterbrink told a Post-Dispatch reporter. "He forgot a bottle of medicine that he had bought for his mother, and when my daughter heard the door bell ring, she thought he was returning for it."
"She called down from her room upstairs, saying that she would be down in a moment to open the door. When she went down she was surprised to find, instead of her fiancé, a negro burglar. He apparently had been watching the house and saw that she was alone."
"He rushed in and grabbed my daughter, but she broke away and ran upstairs. She found my revolver on a dresser, took it up and snapped it in the negro's face."

Rips the Carpets Up.
"The negro overpowered her. When we got home at 11:45 p. m., we found her on the bed, covered completely with blankets. In tying her hands he had fastened the corset string around her neck, and she was nearly choked."
Unterbrink said that except for the shock and injuries resulting from the rough handling, his daughter was not otherwise hurt by the intruder. The burglar, he said, ripped the carpets from the floor searching for money, but found none. Nothing was taken, he said.

BANK BOOKKEEPER, IN ILL HEALTH, KILLS SELF

Joshua G. Barnett of Mercantile Trust Feared He Would Have to Give Up Position.

Discouraged by the thought that he might have to give up his work as a bookkeeper with the Mercantile Trust Co., Joshua G. Barnett, 42 years old, shot and killed himself Sunday at his boarding place, 3741 Laclede avenue.

Barnett had suffered from rheumatism and nervousness, and had been obliged to be absent from his work for 10 days. He went to the trust company office Saturday and made an attempt to catch up with his back work, but as he was still feeling poorly he made little progress. He remarked as he left that he feared he would have to drop out.

His cousin, Mrs. James Scullin of 1281
Hamilton avenue, had invited him to take Sunday dinner at her home. She was notified during the morning by Mrs. Eva Brooks, at whose home Barnett boarded, that he had killed himself.

Barnett was single. His father was dead, but his stepmother and a half-brother, W. H. Barnett, live at 4629 Berlin avenue. The body was taken in charge by Mrs. Scullin.

STOPS TO WATCH FIGHT, COMBATANT STABS HIM

Fred Miller, Seriously Wounded in Left Breast, Is Sent to City Hospital.

Because he stopped in the street to watch a fight between two men, Fred Miller, 211 Souard street, was stabbed in the left breast and seriously wounded by one of the combatants, Sunday night. Miller told the police that Louis Cizner, 1439 South Broadway, stabbed him. The police arrested Cizner.

Miller and Frank Willie, 1417 South
Seventh street, were walking past Broadway and Bay street when they saw Cizner and another man fighting. They stopped to look on. After Miller, who is a teamster, 20 years old, was stabbed, he was taken to a physician's office, and later sent to the city hospital.

In the fight a plate glass window in Gottlieb Reingwald's bakery, 1438 South
Broadway, was broken.

MASCOT is really a ten- cent tobacco—Quality and Quantity—and I sell it for 5 cents—How can I do it?

When I bucked into this tobacco-selling business I brought along with me a brand new idea.
The idea was to give you a ten-cent quality—and quantity—of smoking tobacco for 5 cents, and still keep from going broke myself.

There was only one way to do it. I knew the way. It was simple. I cut out the tin box cost—which is heavy—and put MASCOT in an inexpensive cloth pouch. The 10-centers come in tin boxes. You can't smoke tin, but you pay for tin.

My pouch is just as good as the tin box; in fact, it has many advantages over the tin box—and it saves me the money which makes it possible for me to give you double value for yours.

MASCOT
CRUSHED CUT TOBACCO
The Good NEW Smoke for Pipe and Cigarette

has built up a whirlwind success
just on that simple idea.

And remember, MASCOT isn't
"Just another nickel tobacco."

It stands shoulder-to-shoulder with any ten-cent tobacco you ever smoked. It is made from regulation ten-cent material.

Here's MASCOT:
Good old ripe Burley leaf—
the best that Kentucky's golden sun and rich soil produces—carefully cleaned and cured until it is pure and mellow and sweet; then sliced and crushed until the tobacco runs uniformly throughout and does not "smoke in streaks."

Men, the proof of a tobacco is in the smoking of it. Take it from me, there isn't any better tobacco than MASCOT.
Smoke it
today.

SENATOR ASSAILS EDUCATION WITH JOHN D.'S 'PLUNDER'

Works Condemns to Colleagues Plan to Incorporate $100,000,000 Foundation.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Efforts in Congress to incorporate the $100,000,000 Rockefeller foundation were assailed today by Senator Works, who declared them a "proposal to farm out to John D. Rockefeller and his associates the right and power to educate the people of the country with money accumulated by criminal means."

Senator Works' statement was made in connection with a speech he delivered in the Senate today on trusts and combinations, the existence of which he attributed to the high protective tariff policy.

"The extent to which this may be carried out is practically unlimited," he said. "The corporations and institutions of learning which may be established throughout the country in the hands of the people who will be subservient to the interests and views of Mr. Rockefeller and his associates are without number or limitation."

"We do not want our children to be taught the ways nor the methods of John D. Rockefeller or his kind, nor to be generous with ill-gotten gains, nor to touch, handle or profit by gold that should blister the fingers of the man who has accumulated it by extortion, oppression and crime, and is now attempting to rid himself of it by giving it away, nor to become the receivers of stolen goods in the name and under the guise of charity."

Frequent Showers in Prospect for First Half of Week

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Forecast in the East and the Rocky Mountain country are forecast in the Weather Bureau's weekly bulletin. The bulletin indicated that during the week temperatures would average above normal east of the Mississippi River and below normal over the plain states and the Rocky Mountain and plateau regions.

"The weather will be generally fair and warm the first part of the week in the Eastern states, followed by unsettled weather by Wednesday and local rains thereafter. There will be frequent showers during the first half of the week in great central valleys and the Southern states, while generally fair weather will prevail for some days over the plains states and the Rocky Mountains and plateau states; there will be frosts the first half of the week in the North-western states and the plateau and Rocky Mountain regions," the forecast announced.

TO PLAY FOR CHARITY

"She Snoops to Conquer," the successful play produced by members of the City Club Friday and Saturday nights, will be repeated Thursday night for the benefit of the Night and Day Tuberculosis Camp, 2200 South Broadway.

The City Club will not have charge of the play as an organization, but the members who participated have volunteered their services. The play will be given at the Victoria Theater on Delmar boulevard just west of Grand avenue.

LUNATIC ESCAPES ASYLUM, WIFE AND DAUGHTER FLEE

Joseph Brinkmann Sought by Police After Vainly Trying to Enter Deserted Home.

When Joseph Brinkmann, a fugitive from the State Asylum for the Insane at Fulton, Mo., reached his home at 3333 Greer avenue Monday morning, he found the house locked and deserted. His wife and 13-year-old daughter, Frances, had been warned of his escape, and had taken refuge with another daughter, Mrs. Benjamin J. Ehrhardt, of 2010 Labadie avenue.

According to Mrs. Brinkmann, as quoted by neighbors, her husband declared, when committed to the asylum, that as soon as he could escape he would "get even" with his wife.

St. B. Schroetter of 3336 Greer avenue saw Brinkmann prowling about the house, pounding on the doors and trying the windows. Schroetter telephoned to the police. Before they arrived Brinkmann gave up his attempt to gain entrance and disappeared.

A squad of policemen arrived in a patrol wagon and made a search of the neighborhood, in which they were joined by a number of men living in the vicinity. The search was still on at noon. Mrs. Brinkmann was informed of her husband's escape Sunday by his guardian, Joseph McIntyre, who was notified by the asylum authorities.

GEORGE ADE, M. C., NEXT

Indiana Progressives Want to Run Humorous for Congress.

LAFORTE, Ind., May 5.—A movement has taken form in the Tenth District to unite the Bull Moose and Republicans in support of George Ade as a candidate for Congress in opposition next year to John B. Peterson, the present Democratic incumbent. Peterson succeeded in defeating Edward G. Crumpacker after the latter had served 16 years in the lower House.

Ade is said to have indicated to his friends that he is receptive. He was a pronounced Progressive in the last campaign.

Dust Causes Fatal Auto Crash. LAFORTE, Ind., May 5.—Blinded by a dust storm, Edward Belifield, who was making his first trip in a new automobile, dashed headlong into a machine driven by F. H. Wilson of Chicago, near Chester, Ind., and was instantly killed. Wilson escaped with minor injuries.

DOCTOR TO LIVE ON A FARM WITH WIFE AND HER SOULMATE

H. Lincoln Chase of Boston Resolves to Form Third Side of Platonic Triangle.

SPECIAL TO THE POST-DISPATCH.
BOSTON, May 4.—Dr. H. Lincoln Chase will go back to nature, too. He will, as it were, form the third side of the triangle of pure, platonic love, of which his wife and her "soul mate," Hartley Dennett, are the other two sides.

Within a very few days, Dr. Chase says, he will go to the remote village of East Alstead, N. H., to live in the little farmhouse where Mrs. Chase and Dennett, a Harvard graduate and architect, and the two Chase children have dwelt for three years.
Dr. Chase, a noted expert on tuberculosis, a director of hospitals and agent of the Brookline Health Board, has resigned civic duties and resumed his lucrative practice.
Always he has been in warmest sympathy with the simple life, which his wife, who was Margaret M. Everett of New York, and Dennett are leading.
He has often visited them at East Alstead and taken to them books and news of the world less spiritual than that in which they exist at East Alstead.

Mrs. Chase, a follower of Tolstoy, wears velvet corduroy bloomers buckled at the knee, heavy stockings and low shoes, a duck wash shirtwaist, cut low at the neck and tied with a flowing tie, and a corduroy jacket, a combination of coat and blouse.
She has adopted the rustic habits of the villagers; the doors of her farmhouse are always open; she is an "inviter" to all the little ones of East Alstead. Mrs. Chase was in poor health here, but kindly nature has restored her.
Mrs. Dennett, an earnest suffragist, divorced her husband and the Court gave her two children into her custody.
"Margaret Chase, a talented and forceful woman, has been able by the force of her personality to monopolize the affections of Hartley Dennett, another woman's husband, and at the same time to retain the affections of her own husband," said Referee Dillingham in the remarkable finding he rendered to Judge Hall.

"Mrs. Dennett's mistake is in thinking that she should hold a monopoly of her husband's love because she is married to him," said Dr. Chase of the divorce. "Such a belief is wrong. All the great teachers taught that love is boundless. By love I mean a pure, platonic friendship.
"I have been married 13 years. I know my wife and trust her implicitly. I can assure you that Mr. Dennett's love for my wife is pure as the falling snow."

St. Louis' Only One-Price-No-Commission Piano House

The Great Piano Club a Success the Very First Day!

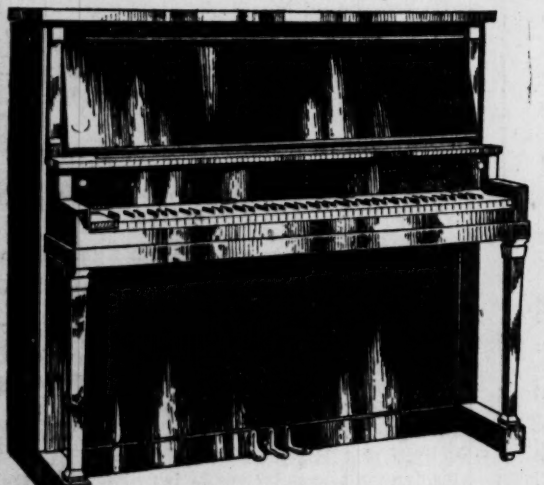

The response to the opening announcement of the Wurlitzer Piano Club has been instantaneous—overwhelming! The very first day brought crowds of interested callers to the store.

Nearly every one enrolled, (but this is a most remarkable fact) the average time taken in reaching a decision was less than ten minutes.

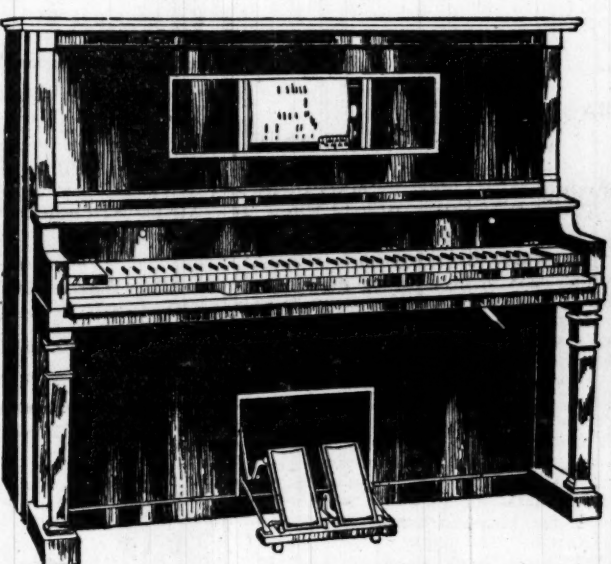

This is indeed gratifying. It shows something of the degree of public confidence enjoyed by the House of Wurlitzer (the world's largest general music house) in St. Louis where we have only been established a short time.

Come in tomorrow if you can. There are Pianos and Player-Pianos a plenty (several carloads just received from the Wurlitzer factories) and a large force of salesmen and demonstrators. Everybody can be waited on tomorrow.

Come as freely as to any public exhibition. Visitors are never urged to buy. No obligation whatever attends your visit.

Irresistible Facts and Figures of the Club

The Wurlitzer Company is the foremost exponent of one-price-no-commission Piano selling in America. We pay no commissions to any outsider, but mark all Piano prices in plain figures—the lowest cash price—which is absolutely uniform and the same to every buyer. Since we do not pay commissions, we save Piano buyers the large sums which commission-paying stores allow and add to the prices of their instruments. Wurlitzer's is the only one-price-no-commission Piano house in St. Louis. Furthermore, we are manufacturers and sell direct.

The value of the Upright Piano in this transaction is $350. That is, $350 under the Wurlitzer one-price-no-commission plan of valuation. This means $400 to $450 in the commission-paying store.

The value of the Player-Piano in this transaction is $550. And this means $600 to $700 in the commission-paying store. The value of the Baby Grand Piano is $600, so that the saving through the Wurlitzer Club is much larger than $95 on the Upright Piano, $125 on the Player-Piano and $115 on the Baby Grand Piano, judged by valuations in commission-paying stores.

Here are some of the more important features of the Club briefly summarized:

1. The club is composed of 500 members.

2. The value of the Player-Piano is $550. The price to Wurlitzer club members $425, and the terms are $10 cash when you join and then $2.50 a week.

3. The value of the Upright Piano is $350. The price to Wurlitzer club members is $255, and the terms are $5 cash when you join and then $1.50 a week.
4. The value of the Baby Grand Piano is $600. The price to Wurlitzer club members is $485, and the terms are $10 cash when you join and then $2.75 a week.
5. The instrument is delivered when you join or later, as you prefer.
6. The weekly payments stop when your instrument is delivered.
7. Every instrument is guaranteed without reserve for ten (10) years—a guarantee in writing as strong as we know how to make.
8. If, after 30 days' trial, the instrument is not satisfactory, we will give you your money back without question.
9. If the instrument is satisfactory after 30 days' use, the WURLITZER club member HAS ELEVEN MONTHS in which to satisfy himself as to its character. If it does not prove to be everything that we expect, you have the privilege of exchanging it without ONE PENNY'S LOSS for any other instrument of equal or greater value.
10. IF A CLUB MEMBER DIES DURING THE LIFE OF THE CONTRACT, THE RUDOLPH WURLITZER CO. will immediately send a receipt in full to the family for the instrument.
11. A beautiful stool and latest style scarf are included with the Upright Piano. A bench, scarf and library of music rolls with the Player-Piano, and a bench and scarf with the Baby Grand Piano.

Real Waltham accuracy is furnished by Waltham Automobile Timepieces

Here is a timepiece designed expressly for motor cars—the first for the purpose. Heretofore automobile clocks have been adaptations. This Waltham Timepiece was built especially for automobiles. It is similar in design to the Marine Chronometer which the U. S. Government buys from us for war vessels and also to the jeweler's chronometers, 2000 of which are supplying Waltham time throughout America.

It will resist jars and hard usage and will run so accurately that you can set your own watch and clocks from it. All the accuracy of Waltham watches is in this timepiece and we stand back of it as a marvel of precision.

The 8-day movement is adjusted to temperature and will not be affected by the extremes of heat and cold to which automobiles are subjected.

It has a dial indicator which gives warning three days before the timepiece runs down. You can also choose between a raised dial and one which is flush with the dash. In its best form this Waltham Automobile Timepiece costs $25. It may be obtained alone or in combination with speedometers.

If you are buying a new car be sure it is Waltham equipped and if you already have a car you will get comfort and pride from installing Waltham accuracy.

WANTS TO KNOW IF CITY HAS POWER TO ABOLISH CROSSINGS

Delegate Gazollo to Ask Legal Opinion of Status Under State
Utilities Act.

AUTHORITY TRANSFERRED

Further Municipal Legislation on Subject Seriously Doubtful by City Authorities.

Delegate Gazollo of the Fifth Ward will introduce at Tuesday night's meeting of the House of Delegates a resolution requesting City Counselor Baird to advise the Municipal Assembly whether the State Public Utilities Act, which became effective April 15, takes away from the city the power to abolish grade crossings.

The recent Municipal Assembly passed ordinances for grade separation at Union avenue and Terminal Railroad tracks, Delmar avenue and Washburn tracks, and at the intersection of the Missouri Pacific and Frisco tracks, at Tower Grove Station. Other bills in course of preparation by the former Board of Public Improvements provided for the elimination of grade crossings at Lindell and De Balver avenues, Delmar avenue and Skinker road and Seventh and Poplar streets.

The four crossings ordered abolished by ordinance will cost the railroad approximately $1,000,000, and the city, which has agreed to pay the consequential damages, about $200,000. Whether the city can continue to legislate on this question, which, after years of agitation, appears to be on the way to practical solution, is seriously doubted by the city authorities.

Text of State Measure.

Paragraph 2 of section 50 of the State utilities law defines the commission's powers over grade crossings as follows: "The commission shall have the exclusive power to determine and prescribe the manner, including the particular point of crossing and the terms of installation, operation, maintenance, apportionment of expenses, use and protection of each crossing of one railroad by another railroad or street railroad, and of a street railroad by a railroad, and of each crossing of a public road or highway by a railroad or street railroad and of a street by a railroad, or vice versa, so far as applicable, and to alter or abolish any such crossing, and to require where, in its judgment, it would be practicable, a separation of grades at any such crossing heretofore or hereafter established, and to prescribe the terms upon which such separation shall be made and the proportions in which the expense of the alteration or abolition of such crossings or the separation of such grades shall be divided between the railroad and street railroad corporations affected or between such corporations and the State, county and municipality or other public authority in interest."

Chairman Atkinson of the State Utilities Board, who wrote the utilities law, expressed the view recently that the city could continue to legislate for the abolition of grade crossings and the State Board would not interfere except in the event of a dispute between the railroads and the city.

The Tower Grove crossing bill provides that the tracks are to be depressed 12 feet and the grade of the street elevated 10 feet, giving a clearance of 22 feet. The cost of constructing the viaduct is to be borne by the railroad companies. The city is to assume consequential damages to contiguous property. The viaduct will be used by the Vandeventer and Southampton cars.

In the case of the other crossings the railroad company has considered the plans drawn by the Board of Public Improvements and has agreed to construct the viaduct and make the required changes in the grade of tracks in such manner that the consequential damages are paid by the city.

Kinsey Not Considering Problem. President Kinsey of the Board of Public Improvements says his time has been so occupied with the free bridge problem that he has given no consideration to the subject of grade crossings.

"I have no idea what bills were passed or proposed in the late Assembly," said Kinsey to a Post-Dispatch reporter. "Probably there are several pending in my department which will be taken up later."

"I do not know whether the city has the right to abolish grade crossings in view of the provisions seeming to confer exclusive power on the State Board. That is a matter for the legal department to settle."

HELD AS LID LIFTER

Theodore Vincent, Olive Street Restaurant Owner, and a Woman Employee Are Arrested.

Theodore Vincent, proprietor of a restaurant at Eighteenth and Olive streets, was arrested Sunday, after H. N. Meyers, a special policeman, reported to Sgt. Lange that he had bought two cups of beer in the cafe. Mrs. Myrtle Adams, an assistant in the restaurant, was also arrested.

Vincent was formerly manager of the French Renaissance Club, which was closed by the police after numerous complaints that it had lifted the lid. A small stock of liquor found in the restaurant was taken by the police for evidence.

Unparalleled Buying Interest Has Prevailed Today in This Season's Greatest Suit Sale

Involving 812 Stylish Garments—A Manufacturer's Close-Outs, $25, $27.50, $30, $35 & $11.75
$39.75 Values at

Mere words fall short of describing the wonderful values in this greatest suit sale of the season. The nearest we can come to expressing their beauty & worth is to say they are the choicest models from three of New York's best makers who are known among the trade for their style leadership & superb tailoring.

There are plain tailored, slightly cutaway & extreme cutaway styles, made from men's wear serges, Bedford cords, poplins, eponges, fancy worsteds & checked suitings, in all popular colors, with skirts in plain or artistically draped effects. Both women's & misses' sizes are included, & there are many blue & black materials—actual $25, $27.50, $30, $35 and $39.75 values, selling at $11.75.

Another Event of Prime Importance Is the Sale of Women's & Misses' $20.00 to $35.00 Silk Dresses at $11.75

As announced in Sunday's papers, these handsome dresses came to us through a purchase from three prominent New York makers at a mere fraction of worth.

The dresses are elegant afternoon & street models, charmingly fashioned from charmeuse, messaline, foulard, Canton crepe, crepe meteor & faille silks in exquisite afternoon & evening shades. They are beautifully trimmed with dainty laces, rich embroidery & many uniquely new draping ideas are brought out in the waist or skirt. Many are direct copies from imported models & all show the influence of the highest style ideas. Splendid choosing is offered Tuesday of these charming dresses at a fraction of worth when they are priced at $11.75.

Continuing Tuesday This Notable Sale of Men's $5.00 Manchester Silk Shirts, $2.95

Such shirt values as these are new to St. Louis—such selling of silk shirts as we experienced today is unprecedented at this store.

Two things are accountable for this spirited selling: The great vogue for silk shirts for summer wear & the wonderful values offered in this great sale.

The Manchester Shirt Co. are custom tailors to the trade. We purchased their entire surplus of short lengths & bolt ends of silks, which were made up to our order in their painstaking way. The shirts are all made coat style, with neat double stitched box fronts, French double cuffs, loop buttonholes & in the popular neckband styles, & afford splendid choosing Tuesday at $2.95.

$19 Is the Price on These $25 Suits

HEIRESS BRIDE OF HANDSOMEST BOSTON WAITER

Baltimore Girl Takes Father's Injunction Literally and Marries a Working Man.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BOSTON, Mass., May 5.—Back of the wedding of Miss Nancy Redding, the Baltimore heiress, and George A. Lamasee, at the Boston Cathedral of the Holy Cross, is an unusual romance.

Lamasee, in the month he was employed at the Copley Plaza, the most expensive Back Bay hotel, at $30 a month salary, became known as the handsomest waiter in Boston. He had been captain of waiters at the Follies Bergere Cafe in New York. He waited on Miss Redding when she entered the hotel dining room, and it was a case of mutual love at first sight.

Miss Redding is a graduate of Notre Dame Academy in Baltimore, is a golfer, tennis player and horsewoman. Her father is president of the Baltimore Democratic Club and has traction interests. It is said Redding often declared his daughters should marry working men rather than idle society youths, but Miss Nancy took him so literally that he almost gasped for breath. But he approved the match, came north in time to attend the wedding, and presented a check to the couple.

The couple will reside in Oil City, Pa., where Lamasee will manage a restaurant in a park controlled by a trolley line in which Redding is interested.

The pair first met last Tuesday, when Miss Warden served Vernon's dinner.

He insisted that she continue to serve him at table, and Friday they were married. The bride continued waiting on table to cover up the secret, which was revealed only when they announced the beginning of their wedding journey.

FATHER, 88, FLEES WHEN DAUGHTER PICKS CLOTHES

Veteran Missourian Refuses to Go Back Unless He Can Wear
a Brown Suit.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 5.—Enraged when his daughter, with whom he lived in Jasper, Mo., picked out a suit of clothes for him which he did not like, Milton Starbuck, 88 years old, left her home, walked 20 miles to Lamar and caught a train to Kansas City.

When Starbuck arrived here, still angry over the suit, he was taken in charge by Union Depot officials, but he refused absolutely to return to his daughter. He insisted on going to the home of his brother in Marshalltown, Iowa.

"I may be old, but they can't tell me what to wear when I don't want to wear it," Starbuck declared. "When I wanted a brown suit I wanted it brown, and no other color will do."

200 WITNESSES IN ATLANTA INQUEST ON MURDERED GIRL

Superintendent of Factory in Basement of Which Body Was Found Is a Suspect.

FIVE OTHERS ARRESTED

Mary Phagan, 14, Victim, Had Rope Around Neck; Two Incoherent Notes Found.

ATLANTA, Ga., May 5.—Despite diligent efforts to establish the identity of the slayer of 14-year-old Mary Phagan, whose body was found in the basement of the National Pencil Co. factory, police and detectives today apparently were as far as ever from solving the mystery.

The third session of the coroner's inquest was set for today. More than 200 employees of the company, many of them girls, were summoned for the inquest.

Six suspects have been arrested in connection with the crime, but two of these have been released and two others are held as witnesses.

Factory Superintendent Held.

L. M. Frank, superintendent of the company, is the only one of the four against whom actual charges have been laid. There is no real evidence in the possession of the police against him.

New Lee, negro watchman at the factory, who first gave the alarm, is believed to know more about what happened at the factory that night than he has divulged. The theory has been advanced that the watchman was employed by the real murderer to assist in disposing of the body, but that later he became frightened at his gruesome surroundings and gave the alarm.

The girl was dead when found. A rope was tied around her neck and it appeared that she had been strangled. It is believed that she was first attacked and then choked to death. The girl's body lay on the ground in the darkest recess of the basement. Near it were two notes in different styles of handwriting. Both were incoherent and threw little light on the tragedy. Handwriting experts have advanced the opinion that Lee wrote both notes.

The cellar had been the scene of a struggle. The girl's garments were torn. There were scratches on her hands, and she had been struck on the head with a blunt instrument. The rope had been cut. One end had been fastened behind to a handkerchief knotted about the girl's neck. The other place had been secured to a beam above. The police are inclined to believe that the rope was fastened to the girl's neck in an effort to suggest that she had hanged herself and the rope had parted.

Negro Heard Woman Scream.

A negro employed as night watchman in an adjoining building told the police that he had heard a woman scream about midnight, and that he thought it came from one of a company of drunken roisterers, and paid no further attention.

An improvised cot was discovered in the cellar in which the body was found. Near the cot was the small footprint of a woman.

ARTHUR MILLINER, who was alleged to have been seen with the girl in the early evening, before the discovery of the body, was taken into custody early in the day. Lee was arrested at the scene of the crime. Suspicion did not point to Supt. Frank until the following day. J. M. Gantt, a street car conductor, known to have been a friend of the girl, also was arrested. All of these succeeded in establishing alibis with the exception of Frank and Lee.

BREAD NEEDS BUT LITTLE KNEADING, SAYS EXPERT

Miss Wessling of Government Service Advises Letting the Yeast Do the Work.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—The American housewife wastes much energy in making bread, according to Miss Hannah Wessling, expert breadmaker for the Department of Agriculture. Bread doesn't need much kneading, she declares. Let the yeast do your work.

Her method is: Take 12 ounces of flour for a one-pound loaf. Use one-fourth ounce of sugar, one-fourth ounce of salt and 10 ounces of tepid water. Mix the yeast, salt and flour and then let them ferment for an hour instead of using them immediately after they "foam." Warm the flour and mix with the foam. Allow the mass to stand one hour. Don't handle it. It does not need much kneading. Mix it up and allow it to stand another 45 minutes, when it is ready for the molds.

The entire process should be conducted in a room where the temperature is from 80 to 86 degrees. Any warmer means sour bread and any cooler makes bread.

POE TAVERN TO BE RAZED

NEW YORK, May 5.—Kingsbridge Tavern, a landmark of 100 years, a resort where Edgar Allen Poe used to wait for his manuscripts to come back from unappreciative editors, is about to give way to the right of progress.

It is on the site of what will be the new American League baseball park next summer, at Two Hundred and Twenty-sixth street and Broadway, and today a gang of laborers took possession of the old tavern as a shelter for themselves and their shovels, while the last guest walked out. Efforts of Poe's admirers to preserve the old tavern for its historical interest failed.

ALANSON D. BROWN IS SERIOUSLY ILL AT SAN ANTONIO

Doctors Said to Have Little Hope of His Recovery From Nervous Breakdown.

Telegraphic reports from San Antonio, Tex., Monday, state that Alanson D. Brown, president of the Hamilton-Brown Shoe Co., is so seriously ill from a nervous breakdown that physicians have little hope of his recovery.

Mrs. Brown and her daughter, Ruth, and William M. Sloan, second vice-president of the company, are with him. Brown and Mrs. Brown went to San Antonio several months ago to take a long rest. Confidential employees of Brown told a Post-Dispatch reporter that, while he is very sick, his condition is not more serious than it had been for several months. His son, Alanson C. Brown, has just returned from Texas. He told his associates that he felt no immediate alarm over the condition of his father.

Brown has been in poor health for three of four years, according to members of the firm. For the last two or three years he has not given close personal attention to his business.

THE PRINCE IN THE FAIRY TALE

A STORY of Art Student Life in Paris,
Wherein a Girl Who Tries to Be a Painter Meets the Man of Her Dreams.

By LEONARD MERRICK.
PART I.

"The carriage is at the door, madam."

HOW strange that still sounds when the solemn butler says it to me, Rose McLeod! I go, wrapped in furs, down the great staircase, pass the two footmen—whose pomposity, if I may own the truth, rather frightens me—and enter my carriage in a dream. For a few minutes my grandeur seems unreal; I am remembering winters when I used to shiver in a spring jacket and "Japan" my summer straw. I feel as Cinderella must have felt on her way to the ball, and, indeed, I hold my history no less fairy-like than hers and my hero no less charming than her Prince. I want to write the tale and think that far away in dear old England other girls will read it. I ought to explain that I am writing in New York, a city that I never expected to see in all my life. But let me begin at the beginning!

The beginning, then, was a drafty flat in West Kensington. In looking back at it I see always a delicate, sweet-faced woman sitting by the fire and a dark slip of a girl sketching at a table covered by a faded green cloth. The woman was my mother; the girl was I. I know now that I had very little talent, but I meant to be an artist. When I sold my copy of "Shining the Bay Mare" one morning while I was working at the National I was prouder of myself than I have ever been since. Pray don't think I am vain of it; copies of that girls were rather easy to sell, and the girls in my time were accordingly eager for their turn to begin it. I only mention the matter because it was the first and the last money that my mother saw me earn. Dear little mother! But we were very happy together, weren't we, although we were poor? Dear little mother, if you were living today what lovely things you should have!

At her death I was left quite alone. It is true that I had some second cousins, but I had not met them and they showed no desire to meet me then. From one source and another I had about £30, and in my ignorance I expected to support myself by my brush before the sum had melted. When I was free of the flat, I took a lodging in Baywater and continued to study at a life-class. Excepting that I worked and hoped and every often cried there is nothing to tell you of the next two years.

Then one afternoon I saw Miss Niblett in Kensington Garden. She was an artist who had long been an acquaintance of ours. As far back as I remember she used to drop in to tea about twice a year and talk of the great things she was going to do. She never seemed to grow any older nor to do the great things. She was a spirited, chirpy little woman, and when she settled in Paris both my mother and I had missed her occasional visits very much. In the Broad Walk she greeted me as brightly as ever and we strolled to the Round Pond and talked for an hour. She was "turning in a week's time, and I heard that she was living there in the most comfortable way, occupying a studio and bedroom in the quarter called "Mont-Carnasse," and marketing and cooking for herself. She told me of the great things she was going to do.

"Why don't you come back with me, child? I asked presently. "Come and study in Paris and then you won't be so lonely. Wouldn't you like to?" "I should love it," I faltered with a heart-thump, "but—" "But what?" "But I don't know. For one thing, I can't"

Speak French."

"Tut," said Miss Niblett. "Hundreds of the girls don't speak French. You'll learn." For a minute we sat silent, gazing at the toy ships sailing across the pond. Then she added briskly, "You had better come!"

"All right," I said. And that was I went. Yes, I went to study in Paris and to live in the queerest fashion imaginable. Our rooms were up ninety-eight stairs of a dingy house in a dilapidated court. At six o'clock in the morning the court used to wake and be so exceedingly busy—and cheerful withal—that any one there would have been ashamed to lie abed. To begin with, there was the rushing water outside, for taps there were none, and one by one the tenants clattered to a pump with a bucket to obtain their supply for the day. Then the hawkers made their appearance, each with his own peculiar chant. "Fine mackerel! Yes, fine mackerel! Who will buy my fine mackerel this morning?" And "Mussels! Oh, mussels most delicious!" And "Water-cress" and "Milk—some nice fresh milk!" And I mustn't forget the noise that was made by shaking out the rugs from every window. I have never seen a city that opens its eyes so good-humoredly as Paris. In pictures it is always shown to us at night with its myriad lamps shining or in the afternoon when it is frivolous and its fountains flash; but in my own little unimportant opinion, if one would know Paris at its sweetest and its best one should get up very, very early and behold it smiling when it wakes to work.

I have told you that we lived up ninety-eight stairs; I must tell you something about the people who lived on the lower landings. Of course the lower the landing the higher the rent, but none of our neighbors had an air of opulence—need I say it! All of them bustled to the pump with pails, all of them cooked their own meals, and all of them were rather a rare occurrence, I believe, for everybody in that house to cook a dinner on the same day. On the floor below ours there was Madame Truquet, who painted fans and chocolate boxes for a livelihood—the expensive and gorgeous boxes covered with satin, which fortunate people have sent to them at Christmas and on their birthdays. Still lower there was an American youth who was studying in art medicine. I am afraid he did not study it very hard; I should be sorry to think that if I were ill in America one day he might be called in to prescribe for me. Lower still there were two young Frenchmen; one of them wrote verses and his companion made sketches for some of the papers. And there was another American who had moved in while Miss Niblett was in London. So good looking!

He was about seven and twenty and, oh! he was shabby. It made my heart ache to see the threadbare clothes he wore, even there where I had come to take threadbare clothes for granted. I used to meet him at the pump sometimes, and then he always insisted on carrying my pail for me. I felt horrid to let him do it. I guessed he didn't have enough to eat and needed all his strength to drag his own pail up the stairs. Not that he showed any signs of weakness. He would mount beside me as easily as if he liked the work and the bucket were no more than a feather-weight. He seemed quite strong and happy, and—I have told you how nice looking he was, haven't I?

A girl cannot allow a young man to carry a pail of water up ninety-eight stairs for her without thanking him. I mean it was impossible for me just to say "Thank you," as if he had handed me the toast or picked up my sunshade. Of course we spoke as we went up the stairs. He told me he was an art student, like me, and I thought that no poor young man had ever been more courteous and contented with his lot—if one call a little a "lot." He talked as if he loved the life. To listen to him one would have imagined that poverty—"bohemianism" he termed it—was a kind of treat—a privilege for the select,

JOHN CARROLL, a young composer, is just completing a concerto for the violin. He is a very temperamental young fellow, but his wife, Sylvia, keeps the little household going by giving violin lessons to young pupils. Sylvia is herself a wonderful violinist.

like a ticket for the Royal Enclosure. I used to forget to pity him till I looked at his coat. "I think you are very brave," I couldn't help saying once. "Brave?" he exclaimed. "Why, how's that? Where's the hardship? I think it's just the right thing for a man to carry home his bread for breakfast and dine for a franc when he's rich. It's glorious—teaches him to be independent. And you?" he went on in a different tone. "Is it very hard for you?" "Oh, I am one of the wealthy—for the time being," I laughed. "I have quite a fortune as yet."

"What shall you do when you have squandered your millions?" People did not stand on ceremony with one another at our pump. "Paint," I said. "Nobody to help you?" he asked. "My own right hand," said I. He regarded it ruefully. "The prospect is not so charming as the hand," he murmured, "is it?"

"It's glorious," I declared, "for a girl to carry home her bread for breakfast and dine for a franc when she's rich."

"No, it isn't," he said. "For a girl it's a different thing altogether. You'll excuse my contradicting you? Besides, even a franc wants earning when you have no allowance from home."

"I shall sell my work," I declared valiantly. In those days I always kept my work with a capital W. "I guess pictures take a deal of selling sometimes."

"I suppose you mean that you don't think shall ever paint well?" "I haven't seen anything you have done," he answered. "How could I mean that? Here we are at the top!" We had reached our door and Miss Niblett was standing there, a stiff little figure of disapproval. Considering that I was only showing the young man simple civility in return for his extreme kindness, I am bound to say that Miss Niblett's later remarks were absurd. Miss Niblett said she should go downstairs with the pail herself in the future.

"When she came up the next morning I was all ears. Was she alone? ... No, I could hear her speaking; and then

She has, however, sacrificed all hope of gaining fame as an artist in order that her husband may have every opportunity to express his genius. She cheers him up in his period of depression and always with her quiet strength, holds him steadfast in his work.

When the concerto is finished Carroll takes it to Nada Malinsky, a famous Russian violinist, who is visiting the country. By ingenious means he induces Nada to play the concerto. She is enraptured by it and promises to put it on the programme of her great concert at Carnegie Hall.

But now begins a period in which Carroll wanders from his old devotion to his wife. Nada is beautiful and she is not averse to the worship of men. Sylvia is neglected while Carroll pays passionate court to the Russian. The day comes when he kisses her. In his sudden reaction from the kiss he rushes from her apartment and Nada, angry at his hasty departure, follows him to return the score of the concerto.

When Carroll comes home Sylvia, in a last effort to win him back, begins to play the concerto on her violin. The effect on Carroll is to send him to his den in an agony of doubt. But Nada has arrived on the scene in time to hear Sylvia's wonderful playing. The artist in her triumphs over any feminine jealousies and she wins Sylvia to a secret and suddenly devised plan. So, on the night of the concert when Carroll goes to the piano to play the accompaniment for the concerto Nada leads Sylvia on to the stage and the composer's wife plays the concerto to the great amazement of her husband and audience. The result is a happy reunion between husband and wife.

There is a form of insanity so well recognized that wills have been broken on the strength of it, that takes the form of brutality to those of one's own family when at the same time its victim is kind, benevolent and charming to all outside. This is known to alienists and lawyers as "okelomania." Historic cases of it are those of Dean Swift, Mrs. John Wesley and the father of Frederick the Great.

In women it generally takes the form of an unreasonable and baseless jealousy leading them to make life a burden to their husbands, to sulk perversely at home while shining in society or spending much time in religious devotion or in works of benevolence.

In men okelomania takes the form of active brutality to their wives and children. It is often accompanied by continuous and exhausting remorse, under the terrible consciousness that they are torturing those they really love. But they are unable to shake off the habit. Sometimes, when the object of their persecution is dead, they themselves become actually insane. Such was the case with Dean Swift, after the death of Stella, the victim of his brutality, when he paid the penalty in pathetic alternations of delirium and melancholy.

So well is this form of insanity recognized that the courts will throw out the will of a man who has manifested it if this will cuts off his natural heirs.

IS YOUR GOAL OF YEARS THE CENTURY MARK?

Written for the Post-Dispatch

By CLARENCE L. CULLEN.

IT is natural and normal for us not to reflect too much upon death. Even as we grow older, if we are in health, we think but fitfully and vaguely upon that subject. Something within us impels us to dismiss the thought of death as soon as possible.

Provision beyond our comprehension no doubt was made for the reluctance with which we view death. The intent indubitably is that we shall do all that we can to unroll our full scroll of years and keep the thought in firm abeyance. When our friends die we suffer from depression; but we are prompted to put their passing out of our minds.

If our departed friends are of about our own age and of rugged health, dying suddenly or after brief illness, we sigh to think that they should not have had a longer tenancy of their place in a bright and engaging world; but the thought of our vanishing so suddenly as they is unimaginable. Or if it is imaginable we push it into the remote background of the mind.

Hard luck for them, poor chaps! But nothing like that can or will happen to us. We are going right ahead and round out our days. By the way, we must write that hurry-up letter about that delayed shipment. And so we plunge back into the swim of our affairs. And immediately the thought of death is banished—which is precisely as it should be.

Does our mental attitude toward life and death have any bearing upon our length of years? This question can be answered variously. Twenty years ago I knew, in Maryland, a rugged old pine-knot of a farmer 75 years old. His teeth for years had been yellowed and he had had his hair graying. His daughters urged him to have them attended to by a dentist. He refused.

"Wouldn't it be foolishness," he said to them, "for me to have my old snags fixed when I'm getting ready to die?" He wasn't gloomy about it, but he figured that his race was about run. A month ago I saw this old farmer again. Although he now has no teeth at all, I saw him put away a bird man's breakfast of sausage and buckwheat cakes. At 96 he easily looks good for a hundred.

Twenty years ago, also, I saw a lady 75 years old off on her annual trip to Europe. She was a very alert and keen-minded and pleasure-loving old lady. Her idea emphatically was that she would live to be a hundred at least.

"I've never been to Egypt," she said to me on this day. "I stay away from the purpose. I know that Egypt would make me think about death and the de— and I am too young to reflect upon such disquieting matters. But some day I shall go to Egypt—perhaps 20 years from now."

"I saw this old lady last week. She remains alert and keen-minded and pleasure-loving at 96. She says now that she never is going to Egypt. Despite mortality figures, I consider that it would be an excellent even-money wager that she will round out her hundred years."

The farmer looked for death at any time, and the old lady never would entertain the thought of it. Both are still alive and quite comfortable. So no possible conclusion is to be drawn as to just how their respective mental attitudes toward the matter of death have affected them through the years.

Of the two, however, there isn't the least doubt that the old lady has had the more fun.

Not necessarily silly.

An element of risk always enters into such a marriage, but it may turn out happily.

To make a perfect bisque with Campbell's Tomato Soup, just follow the easy directions on the label.

Use only a small pinch of baking-soda. Use fresh sweet milk, with only a little cream in it, if any. After you mix the soup and the milk let them come to boiling-point; but do not let them boil.

Control Appears to Be Quite as Essential to a Manager as to a Pitcher

MR. SHORT SPORT: Lunk Hedd evidently got exactly what he wanted

By Jean Knott

STOVALL BENCHED INDEFINITELY FOR ASSAULT ON "UMP".

Browns' Manager Expects More Severe Penalty for Expectorating on Official Ferguson in Saturday's Game

Manager George Stovall, of the St. Louis Browns, has been indefinitely suspended for his conduct at Sportman's Park, Saturday afternoon in the Cleveland game, when he pulled Umpire Ferguson's cap from his head and threw it on the ground, and followed it up by spitting on the official's coat, when his back was turned.

Notification of Stovall's suspension was received by him Sunday, from Ban Johnson, president of the league. Stovall declared Monday that he expected a still severer punishment for his lack of control.

Stovall was benched on Saturday's game for protesting two strikes called on him by Umpire Ferguson.

Stovall protested on the first and turned to protest on the second. Before many words could pass Ferguson had waved the manager to the bench. Stovall, furious at this treatment, snatched Ferguson's hat from his head and tossed it on the ground.

He went to the bench, but when the inning was over strode over to first base and picked up his glove. On his return to the bench, as he passed the umpire, he made a motion as though to expectorate on Ferguson's coat.

Stovall did not deny his act nor did he condone it.

"I lost my head," he explained, Monday. "Of course nothing can be said in defense. I was provoked at what I thought was an unjust ruling against me. I expect the worst is yet to come, when Ban Johnson hands down his final ruling."

Johnson is awaiting the arrival of a letter from Ferguson, describing in detail exactly what happened. Then he will make known his final judgment in the matter. That it will be severe is certain, as "Tim" Hurst, an umpire who pulled the same trick on player Eddie Collins, of the Philadelphia team, was barred from the league for the offense.

President Hedges, after the game, said: "While the incident is deplorable, I can excuse Stovall for losing his head. He believes he was provoked beyond reason at the unjust rulings of the umpire. I will stand by him as far as possible in this matter."

Fans in the stands cheered Stovall as he left the field, but it is probable that many of them were not aware of what actually passed between player and umpire.

Stovall's action is one of the few instances of this sort of rowdiness on the field, and is certain to draw down a penalty in proportion to the crime.

Larry Swings at a Wild Pitch and Brings End to a Nap Rally

TRYING to keep Lajoie from hitting the ball is a difficult matter, and it's impossible to make him accept a base on balls if he doesn't want the gift. That was proven in Sunday's game at Sportman's Park, when Pitcher Baumgardner tried to slip four wide ones to the Frenchman when a safety would have meant disaster.

The score was tied at 3 all in the eighth, with a nap on third and two runs. Baumgardner threw two wide balls to Lajoie. The big fellow took a swing at the next, despite the fact that it was high and wide. He accepted a third ball, but lunged over the plate and batted at the next. It resulted in a roller to brief and the side was retired.

This swinging at wild pitches is no new thing to Lajoie. He did the same thing to Pitcher Mack Alton last season when the "Kentuckian" tried to pass him and he connected for a triple to left field.

It was Baumgardner's second victory of the series over the Naps. The score Sunday was 4-3, against 2-0 Wednesday, when the West Virginian blanked the sixth city aggregation. Incidentally, Baumgardner's victories were the lone ones of the series.

Baumgardner not only twirled good ball, but it was his ripping single in the eighth inning that pushed over the winning run. Starting this frame, brief gave a life on Chapman's high throw to Doc Johnson. Austin sacrificed and Wallace boosted to Jackson. Fletch Compton went up to swing for Alexander, but Pitcher Stoen slipped him four successive wide ones, preferring to take a chance with Baumgardner. George poked a single to right center that let in brief with what proved the winning run.

Willie Mitchell, a southpaw, was the original Nap batter. However, after he had passed Stoen and Jack Johnson and pitched one ball to Williams in the opener, he was benched and Bill Stoen, a right-hander, came in the job.

One Williams and Walter Alexander turned a beauty batted double play in the seventh. Starting this inning Mickey Gossay had poked his second triple of the matinee. Catcher then boosted to Williams and Gossay batted for the plate. Gossay made a quick throw home, but Alex had to step a few feet to the left of the plate to make the throw.

He pulled in the ball and turned a double play on the fly as the fielding Nap was in the air. It was a nice play.

KONEY HAS TWIRLED THREE GAMES IN N. L.

ED KONEY didn't make his pitching debut Sunday in Chicago, where he rescued Teddy Cather and hypnotized the Cubs into a 13-inning defeat. Koney served his novitiate on the mound three years ago, when he finished up a game in Brooklyn after the "Card" regular pitchers had been exhausted.

He also worked in that memorable baroque game in Cincinnati in 1910, the day that Mr. McGinnis, a back-let-umpire, served in lieu of the regular umpire, who failed to appear because of a headache. Koney's mistake in handing out assignments.

Koney is a seasoned a worthy exponent of the curving art by his teammates. He has a repertoire of deceivers, but hasn't a pitching motion, and consequently looks foolish on the firing line. He's just good enough to beat the Cubs, though.

Federal League Club to Name Heads Tonight

Ed Steininger, former president of the Cardinals club, will be formally elected president of the local Federal League team Monday night, when a special meeting of the Missouri Athletic Club and the Missouri Athletic Club will be held at the club's headquarters. The announcement was made Monday by Nate Hall, a member of the House of Delegates from the Twenty-first Ward. Mr. Hall will be publicity man for the club, he says.

Everything is in readiness for the local opening Tuesday. An automobile parade, starting from the Missouri Athletic Club and proceeding through the downtown streets and then to the St. Louis U. campus, is one of the features planned. Chicago will be entered here by Jack O'Connor's nine in the opening series.

PINCH-PITCHER KONEY RESCUES GAME FOR CARDS

Huggins' Men Win After Exhausted Supply of Pitchers Compels Manager to Use First-Sacker.

By George Rice.

Baseball Editor Chicago Journal. CHICAGO, May 5.—Using Ed Koney, the massive first sacker, as a pinch pitcher in the last five rounds of a 13-inning battle with the Cubs yesterday afternoon, Manager Huggins, after juggling his team with the deft touch of a Hindoo artist, managed to win a game, 10-8. The victory elevated the Cards to third place and tumbled the Cubs from first to second hole.

The Cards fought an up-hill game with bulldog tenacity, and won out in the unlikely round on singles by Maize and Cather, and a triple by George Stoen. Whitted, who is showing at third in place of Morrey. The three kids waded into Bert Humphries' shots and sailed the sad show with lightning dispatch.

The game was about as grotesque a contest as any ever pulled off anywhere in the major leagues. Koney was called to the firing pit after "Yoddy" Cather, an outfielder who started out two years ago with Scranton as a pitcher, had filled the bases. Cather began pitching after Willis was released. Koney forced in a run in the ninth, but a double play averted disaster, and Koney then pitched shut-out ball until the curtain was called down in the thirteenth. Helne Zimmerman, the leading slugger of the National League last season, faced Koney twice, and struck out once, while his best effort was a foul fly to McLean.

Economy Caused the Trouble. Manager Huggins was caught short-handed because of the Cardinals club's eagerness to cut down traveling expenses. When the Cards closed their series in Pittsburgh Saturday, the squad was split up, Hug sending Pitchers Harmon, Burk, Geyer, Steele, Griner and Redding to Philadelphia, where they will be joined today by the main squad.

Huggins figured that Sallee, Peritt and Willis could take care of the lone game with the Cubs here yesterday. But that's where he miscalculated. Peritt started the game, but was found for seven hits and four runs in three innings. Then Sallee went on the job and blanked the Cubs for four rounds, but Sal gave way to Evans, as a hitter, in the eighth. Willis went to the mound in the last half of the eighth.

When the ninth inning rolled around the Cards were in the rear, 6-2, but when a rally was started Huggins sent Wingo to bat in place of Willis. That exhausted the supply of regular pitchers, and after the Cards had scored six runs and taken the lead, Huggins was obliged to cast about for someone to fill the final round. He elected Cather, once a hurler; but Teddy didn't do and Koney went to his rescue and saved the game.

Huggins also used up all other available talent, employing Evans and Wingo as pinch-hitters, and when, in the tenth inning, Umpire Guthrie banished Jimmy Sheppard, Hug was obliged to put Helne Petts, the ancient catcher, who hasn't been in a game since 1906, in right field. Koney pitched so well that Helne didn't have a fielding chance, although he went to bat once and laid down a neat sacrifice.

Crowd Wad With Koney.

About 10,000 fans were out to see the contest and they were pulling harder for Koney than they were for the Cubs at the window. The Cards victory, rather the Koney triumph, was loudly applauded by the home fans. The game with which Koney, without a windup, fooled the Cubs sluggers pleased the fans who liked diversion in baseball.

The Cards went to bat 85 times and knocked 30 hits. They accepted 22 fielding chances without the assistance of an error while they collected six extra-base drives. The Cubs, regarded as demon sluggers, made only 13 hits off the Cardinal collection of curves.

The Cards were a cheery lot when they left their last night for Philadelphia, where they tackle the pace-making Phils Tuesday. The Cubs took a special train for New York, where they tackle the Superbas.

McGRAW FIGURES RED SOX WILL BE LUCKY TO WIN CHAMPIONSHIP AGAIN

Says New York Will Beat Out Browns and Tigers

World's Champions Have No First Baseman and Are Not Getting the Breaks That Helped Them to Win the Flag Last Season.

By John J. McGraw

Manager National League Champion Giants.

In discussing the American League I am going to begin at the bottom, or what if the bottom now, and work up. Frank Chance came to New York this spring unacquainted with his team and with little knowledge of the conditions in the American League. A big noise was made over his arrival, and adherents of the New York club expected him to wave a wand and produce a League leader.

Chance has got away to a bad start. He will admit that himself. But the manager of the Yankees has not sprung any all-stars. He is sitting silent and planning.

"There are going to be some changes in the team," he said.

What changes he mentioned is not up to me to announce. Some players on the club who have been rated very highly heretofore have not impressed Chance. "They haven't got fight enough," asserted the big leader.

This I know—he intends to tear his club to its foundation and build. His pitching staff, in particular, has disappointed him. Two youngsters have been called in, but they are not doing so far this spring. They are Schultz and Keating. Two men on whom he depended much have fallen down. One of these will be traded when the right time comes.

"He hasn't any heart," declared Chance in referring to one and dismissing the subject.

Chance Wants Youngsters. Many twirlers are the same way. I have had experience with such men myself. Then there is another veteran on the team with whom Chance is dissatisfied. This player is accustomed to have the skirts pulled under him, too, as soon as he has a good trade opportunity crops up to make a good trade.

Many surprises are in store for the fans. The manager of the Yankees is a sawing wood and saying nothing, but he is planning. His showing to date has been bad, but he has been fighting the best clubs in the League with a "new team." It is my opinion that the Yankees will not stop lower than sixth at the end of the race.

Senators Making a Flash.

The Washington club is making a flashy showing, and I believe has a good chance to take the pennant. As I stated last week, it strikes me that the fight will finally be between the Athletics and Senators, as it is freely said in Boston that the Red Sox have fallen off.

Stahl has admitted that he is pretty nearly through as a first baseman when he made a recent effort to acquire Chase. His absence weakens the infield. "Charlie" Wagner had a great year last season, his best since going into baseball. It is not likely he will equal this summer. Everything broke for Boston last year. There was hardly a regular out of the game on account of injuries. Wood, the mainstay of the pitching staff, has been laid up already with a bad hand.

On the other hand, the Athletics sloped along last season overconfident of success during the early part of the race and handicapped by injuries and the lack of pitching talent toward the end of it. Washington was not the contender last year; it will be this season. The team was just finding itself.

This spring, when the Giants played the Senators before the season opened, they looked to me like the fastest club I have ever seen in.

The American League and the men worked together better than the Red Sox and even the Athletics, I think. Mack's one problem this season is his pitching staff. His marvelous infield is going better than ever, and his batters are pounding the ball harder.

With one more good twirler he should walk home, but the pitchers are uncertain. Plank is the one man who has displayed keen edged form so far this season. If Bender and Coombs round to, there should be nothing to it. But neither one of them was in shape last year, and it is still a question how dependable they will be this season.

Griffith has his heart set on winning the pennant. So have the men on his club, which is a great thing. The Western trio which all the American League teams will begin this week may have considerable bearing on the race. From present observation, the only possible contender in the League in the West is the Cleveland club, which has been buzzing along at a good pace to date.

This team should finish pretty well up in the race, and in this connection it may even spring a large-sized surprise on its Eastern rivals. At the same time I do not feel from present observation that it has quite enough claim to make it a dangerous competitor for the pennant.

JOHN J. MCGRAW

With Walsh of the White Sox laid up, the Chicago club will have a tough time stopping the Easterners. There's no doubt about it, the veteran spitball twirler comes pretty near being 90 per cent or more of the White Sox team.

Browns Not Strong. Detroit and St. Louis do not look very promising. Undoubtedly the Detroit team has suffered considerably by the absence of Cobb, who has just got back into his uniform. The pitching staff does not look very strong. Then, too, Jennings is confronted with the task of tuning up his team in several playing positions, and any baseball manager who knows his business will tell you that until the process of tuning up a team is completed it cannot play championship ball.

As near as I can figure it from a distance, Manager Stovall of the St. Louis Browns has a big job on his hands. He has some good pitching material, and if Baumgardner has as good a year this year as he did last, he should be of great assistance to Stovall in his attempts to make it interesting for the other teams.

Wray's Column

This Means You, George. A GOOD splitter is a big asset to a baseball club, except when he happens to be a first baseman.

Extracting Without Pain. DENTIST LEACH CROSS is preparing to bridge over the gap in his schedule with a bout here against Harry Trendall. Reckon he'll pull out, all right.

Well, It Sounds the Same. EXPECTORATION, an argument, will cost Stovall a suspension; had the umpire thus debated it might have meant hanging.

Assist by Ban Johnson. TIM HURST once employed this method of argument with an irate player, Eddie Collins. He wasn't hung—he was decapitated. Ban Johnson swung the ax promptly.

You Have One Guess. THE FEDERAL LEAGUE opened the Cleveland season with a Saturday afternoon game at a Sunday gathering of 1600—including the press agent's imagination. The average week day attendance should be all of half as great. If not less. The promoters figure that an average daily attendance of about 1200, at 10 and 25 cent prices, will be necessary in order for each team to break even on the season.

Now, children, tell the gentleman what the Federal League will die of—old age or infantile paralysis?

MAGIRI FAVORED IN FINAL FIGHT AT FUTURE CITY

Bout With Rowan Considered Close, With Nebraskan Having the Edge.

The Future City Athletic Club will be in the swim, even after its doors close on the boxing game, Tuesday night. Following the Magiri-Rowan bout, the arena will be restored to its original use—a swimming pool. The building in the same in which Bill Clarke, the "Belmont Chicken," developed so many swimmers who afterwards won fame in competition here and abroad.

Art Magiri and Marty Rowan are both preparing to quit St. Louis following the close of the club. Magiri has a bout in Butte, Mont., and Rowan is expected to close arrangements for a match in Kansas City with Clarence Ferns.

Considerable betting is being done on the local bout, as each man has a verdict over the other, and the issue is considered doubtful in the deciding event. Magiri is considered much the more clever boxer of the two, while Rowan is the sturdier and more dangerous, as to punch. Any edge that is being conceded is in favor of Magiri.

Two preliminaries have been arranged. Lee Morrissey of Oklahoma, who comes well recommended being matched with Earl Erbiling and Jake Fieldman with Phil Gouldberg.

Johnny King, who will box Jimmy Foley at the Coliseum, Thursday night, fought a 20 round war with Kid Henderson at Rock Island, Saturday night.

ALTON BEATS MILLERS IN ONLY TROLLEY LEAGUE GO

Alton defeated the Millers, 2-1, in 11 innings in the only game played in the Missouri-Trolley League Sunday. All other games were postponed on account of wet grounds.

The Belleville Maroons, although idle, retained first place, having yet to lose a game. The postponed games will be played as the second half of double-headers the next time the teams meet.

Interstate League Games Off. All games were called off in the Interstate Trolley League Sunday, owing to wet grounds. Secretary Mallard says the postponed bouts will be played off at the next regular meeting of these teams.

Isn't it about time for a revival of the anti-spit crusade? The Federal League received a boost from an unexpected quarter, Saturday.

Mr. Stovall's actions looked like anything but first division. Helne Petts didn't have anything to do and it did like the grand old veteran that he is.

The Tigers finally won a game. What'll you bet the Yanks don't win a game before the end of the season?

CENTRAL OARSMEN TAKE FIRST JUNIOR BRAGE RACE

The Central Rowing Club barge, manned by H. Fierke, W. Roche, James, W. Hahnemann, Robert Widman, W. Rasher and Johnny Severin, won the John Schab cup for juniors on the Mississippi River Sunday.

The race was the first of the season and was held under the auspices of the Western Rowing Club. Five crews started.

Interstate League Games Off. All games were called off in the Interstate Trolley League Sunday, owing to wet grounds. Secretary Mallard says the postponed bouts will be played off at the next regular meeting of these teams.

Cy Young's Team a Winner. Cy Young's Cleveland Federal League team defeated the Covington team in Cleveland Sunday 4-1.

LADIES' DAY. T'S a grand old flag is the old powder rag. And forever in peace may it wave. It's the emblem of the girls we love.

The rooters who never will shave. Every ladies' day, in their ribbons so gay. They will root till the pennant we bag. The suffragette is the one best bet—Keep your eye on the grand old rag!

Isn't it about time for a revival of the anti-spit crusade? The Federal League received a boost from an unexpected quarter, Saturday.

Mr. Stovall's actions looked like anything but first division. Helne Petts didn't have anything to do and it did like the grand old veteran that he is.

The Tigers finally won a game. What'll you bet the Yanks don't win a game before the end of the season?

novelty of this last condition will not embarrass the big southpaw much. But his finish may hold a latent bit of advice to prospective baseball "bugs."

One of the most mournful bits of cadence in the world is the refrain: "For he's a jolly good fellow."

They Don't Know How To. Refrain, did we say? The word is not in the lexicon of the "bug."

The Caterer.
CYNTHIA, a young negro cook, who had recently given up her employment in order that she might try her luck at the easier profession of waitress, met her former mistress on the street. "Good morning, Cynthia," said the lady. "Where are you working now?" "I isn't workin' nowhere now, ma'am," replied Cynthia coyly. "I've caperin' for a Congressman."—Life.

Overruled.
"O H, but Judge," protested Jinks, when his honor imposed a $10 fine for overspeeding. "Look at your roads! No car ever made could have gone over eight miles an hour through that mire." "That's just it!" said his Honor, severely. "Twarn't nothin' but that there mud of oorn as held ye back!"—Harper's Weekly.

Same, but Different.
FRIEND: Well, Aunt Alice, how is your old man getting along? Aunt Alice (whose husband is an inmate of the Soldiers' Home): Pol'y, chile, pol'y. The only way they can keep him in the hospital is by puttin' a Mother Hubbard on him. He just wants to wander an' wander around.
Friend: Why, he is not crazy, is he, Aunt Alice?
Aunt Alice: No, chile, he is not crazy; he's jist done gone an' lost his min'—Judge.

Not Then.

THE JARR FAMILY

By ROY L. McCARDELL

Riding in his auto has made Mr. Jarr a victim of a barber.

ALTHOUGH it was a dull hour in the tonorial atelier the other operatives hardly stood at attention as Mr. Jarr entered and slid right up to the chair of Fred, the sporting barber.

"How's the boy?" asked Fred affably. Indeed, Fred was very fond of Mr. Jarr, and had upon one occasion offered the "head a slam in the mush" upon the barber whose chair was near the back of the shop.

It is true that Mr. Jarr did not personally receive this affront, the shop being empty of customers at the time it was made. But Fred, the sporting barber, came gallantly to the defense of his client.

thing, and what with the cheap safety razors, I don't see how the boss makes his cakes. But I should worry and have a restless night!"

"The cheap safety razors do hurt business then," asked Mr. Jarr. "Well, they catch the yearlings," said Fred. "Did you know that Darwin or Shakespeare or some of them other highbrows has said that 800,000 young ginks come into shaving every year? Then safety scrapers is all right for fust; but when the yearlings gets to going after the girls and wants a man-tour and a facial massage to look real pretty they come in and we get 'em."

"Do you find the young men of to-day more fastidious than they used to be?" asked Mr. Jarr. "For he knew Fred was an observant philosopher. "Yep," said the sporting barber. "I think a whole lot of 'em is getting real ladylike, and I think it is because of these girl-face pictures of young fellows in the magazines and weekly papers is running."

my own business," the barber admitted. "But these days it looks to me as though young fellows is getting too cute and dainty."

"You were a rough-and-ready boy, then?" Mr. Jarr inquired. "Well, I wasn't a hick, you understand," Fred admitted. "In fact, I used to doll up a bit myself, Yuhno? Slick back the hair and go in for the gay ties and want me shoes shined and have the latest thing in collars."

"My father used to say to me that when he was a young feller paper collars was good enough for him. He said he didn't know what the country was coming to when the boys all wanted to be dudes and smoke paper cigarettes."

A CHANCE FOR IRELAND

JOHN DUFFY, 84 years old, attended nearly all the sessions of the Peace Congress, taking unusual interest in the speeches advocating the disarmament of nations. "Why," asked his chum, Maj. Charles Gontor, who is 88, "are you taking such an interest in that disarmament scheme?"

"Because," said Duffy, "I want to see it put through. With all of these big warships and disappearing guns, the Irish have got no show. But when they lay aside their guns there are enough Irish in Ireland to whip the rest of the world with their fists."

Sure Signs.
PRING is here," observed Flatly. "I can feel it in the air."
"So can I," replied Brokely. "In the air my wife assumes toward me when she begins talking of the limited extent of her wardrobe."
